V Neumann findings on web site, lawsuits consolidate

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

The board of directors of the Village of Antioch unanimously approved (with one absent) the written findings and conclusions prepared by village attorney Donald Anderson regarding the board's decision to deny the Neumann Homes petition calling for 1,240 homes on 634 acres along Rte. 173.

Anderson read only the three final pages of the 10-page report that included general background information and the history of events surrounding the Neumann Homes quest.

In short, the board found that the developer was seeking a "greater dwelling unit density than should be permitted given the guidelines set forth in the Comprehensive Plan and the policy statement of the village board at the time that the property was annexed to the village."

With the amendment of the PUD (planned unit development) ordinance, "open space and space allotted for recreational use are no longer required to be included in determining maximum density." For that reason, the board rejected the density calculations of the peti-

Anderson said the board was exercising its discretion as to "whether or to what extent" to allow for maximum density in this situation. He added that the board gave "independent weight" to the factors, such as traffic, in denying the petition.

Continuing with the findings Anderson said, "The primary means of storm water detention for drainage basin three is Homer White Lake. In the judgement of the board, this violates the Lake County watershed development ordinance which provides that detention in 'isolated waters' of Lake County is prohibit-

With regard to trees and the villages revamped tree ordinance, Anderson said the board found Neumann Homes' response to its commitment to comply with the village "varying and equivocal."

He added, "There is no present assurance that the village will be able to supply sanitary sewer connections to the development...an entitlement should not be granted where the proposed development is much too dense for spray irriga-

Anderson then sited the village's financial difficulties and said it is not expected that it will be able to increase municipal services such as police and fire protection.

The report concluded: "The health, safety and welfare of the Village of Antioch, including its ability to preserve its character, to provide municipal services to its residents, to protect and enhance its quality of life, and to manage its growth in a fiscally and environmentally sound way, are relevant factors that must be balanced against the rights of property owners and developers in regard to special uses of property."

According to Anderson, the entire 10-page report will be posted on the village's web site at www.antioch-il.org.

After the meeting, Anderson said Lake County is presenting a motion before Judge John Goshgarian to have the lawsuits of Neumann Homes and Deercrest combined.

"For Antioch, this is another procedural matter to deal with," said Anderson. "It could create some problems with us in terms of counsel as well as just the timing of the case (that would be delayed)."

Expo could earn someone millions

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

"The color of this year's Million-Dollar Expo is green," said Barbara Porch, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry. "We're hoping someone will actually take away millions this

The event will take place on Saturday, Feb. 23 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Antioch Community High School (ACHS). There is no charge to the public.

The Chamber changed the name of its exposition for this year to have it coordinate with the fact that it is working closely with the Illinois State Lottery and is giving out 1,000 lottery tickets to the first over-18 (years old) visitors. There will be other giveaways throughout the day.

The format is three-tier with the main booths in the north gymnasium, tabletop exhibits (for those requiring less space) outside of the main gymnasium and a craft show in the outlying hallways. "The craft show is limited to handcrafted items only," said Porch.

She added, "This is great for consumers. There is so much more to come see this year."

Mr. Fix-It, WGN and NBC's Lou Manfredini, will be a main attraction and will give a talk from 1-2 p.m. and will be available to answer ques-

"We're excited that he's going to be here this year," said Porch. "We had to wait until both NBC and WGN set his schedule for the year to find out if he was available. Last year he was not."

Porch said there would be mortgage information, health screening for cholesterol testing (at a nominal cost), accounting services, computer services, engineers, and builders among others.

"There will be professional photographers there if someone is planning a wedding or other occasion," said Porch. "There will also be two sign companies so if someone has a new business and need a sign, they will be able to find someone to help

Additionally, PM&L Theatre will be there to inform the community of news and upcoming productions. There will also be home decorators and products like Avon on hand.

There will be entertainment from the Dance Academy of Antioch and Lionheart Martial Arts. Antioch's K-9 officer Coal will make an appearance at 3 p.m. Space Walk of Antioch will have a large size space walk set up that children can jump in free of charge.

Food will be available through (ACHS Music AMPS Performance Sponsors).

Porch said the proceeds from the exhibitors' booths would go toward the Antioch High School Scholarship Fund.

Parking will be at a premium because of construction. Those planning to attend should use both front and back entrances of the schools.

"This expo will be a great source of information for everyone," said

Meals still provided at Senior Center

Catholic Charities still operating Meals on Wheels out of Antioch Senior Center

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

"Things are healthy at the Senior Center," said trustee and senior services co-chair Barbara Porch after the meeting of the senior counsel. "It's nice to see so many concerned members show up for these meetings.

Porch reported that as of Feb. 4 Catholic Charities was still operating its Meals on Wheels program out of the Antioch Senior Center as well as providing congregate meals for those seniors who come to the center during the week for lunch.

"The Antioch area will continue to get Meals on Wheels and congregate meals to the Senior Center, but these meals may not always be provided from the Senior Center," said Porch. "Our representatives got involved and Catholic Charities is very open to working out a solution."

Previously Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch) said he believed a reasonable decision would be made.

"Neither I nor Sen. (Adeline) Geo-Karis (R-Zion) would let homebound seniors go without meals," he

POLICE BEAT

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

LAKE VILLA

DUI

Kary L. Harvey, 36, of 24884 W. Oak, Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Jan. 27, at 6:57 a.m., on Rte. 83 near Monaville Road. Police located Harvey in response to an anonymous call advising of a possible DUI at Rte. 83 and Park. Police followed Harvey's vehicle southbound on Rte. 83, observing as he crossed the double yellow line, and drove 10 miles below the posted 45-mph speed limit. Harvey's registration was found to have expired in July 2001. When stopped, the driver said he'd had 6-7 beers, but had to drive in order to work. He was delivering newspapers. He failed field sobriety tests, and refused a breath test. He told police he was "good at driving drunk." He was charged with DUI, improper lane usage and driving with an expired registration. He was released on a $1,000 I-bond pending appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Feb. 22, at 9 a.m.

Disorderly conduct

Edward B. Soto, 31, of 353 Timber Creek, Round Lake Beach, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Jan. 27, at 3:15 a.m., outside Nuttie's Bar at 65 W. Grand Ave. The Lake Villa Police were called to the scene to assist an off-duty Lake County Deputy Sheriff with an intoxicated individual. Police found Soto getting into a taxi. According to the deputy, Soto said he wanted a ride. Soto told police he thought the deputy's Ford Explorer was a taxicab. He was charged with disorderly conduct, and served a notice to appear in Grayslake Branch III court, on March 13, at 1:30 p.m. He was then released.

Warrant

Kenneth C. Rogers, 36, of 36585 Marilyn Lane, Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Jan. 29, at 1:58 p.m., on Cedar Lake Road at Winddance. Police observed Rogers driving his pick-up truck into oncoming traffic. He had no license or insurance proof with him. He was found top be wanted on a warrant from Chicago, with a $5,000 bond (10 percent applied). He was charged with improper lane usage, driving with a revoked license and driving an uninsured vehicle. He was released on an I-bond pending an appearance at Grayslake Branch III court, on Feb. 13, at 3 p.m. He paid $500 in cash on the warrant bond, and is scheduled to appear in court in Chicago, on March 1, at 9 a.m.

Illegal consumption by minor

James J. Greenhill, 20, of 36870 N.
Bernice Dr., Lindenhurst, and Amy L. Pill, 20, of 39642 Bishop Court, Lake Villa, were arrested by Lake Villa Police on Jan. 26, at 2:51 a.m., on Amber Lane near Monaville.
Police observed a parked vehicle, with a male and female outside. The female appeared ill. The two admitted to drinking beer. The driver of the car had not been drinking. The two arrestees refused tests. They were charged with illegal consumption of alcohol by a minor. They were released to their parents pending appearance at Grayslake Branch III court, on March 13, at 1:30 p.m.

Property damage

On Jan. 27, at 5:23 p.m., Lake Villa Police responded to a complaint that, sometime after 1 p.m. that day, a white 1997 van was "keyed" while parked at the VFW Post at 130 E. Grand Ave. The deep scratch ran along the driver's side, from the front fender to the rear bumper fender. There are no suspects.

LINDENHURST

Possession of cannabis Shelley Jean Propeck, 38, of 25104 W. Petite Ave., Antioch, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Feb. 2, at 5:45 p.m., on Grass Lake road near Savage. Police observed she was driving with one taillight out, crossing the double yellow line and drifting in her lane. She was driving between 35-50 mph, and accelerated to 59 mph in a 45-mph zone. After stopping the driver, police questioned her about the condition of her vehicle. The entire driver's side was damaged. According to police reports, the driver's side outside mirror was hanging by wires, the door and rear quarter-panel were dented, the taillight was missing and the rear bumper was bent. She said she found it that way when she returned to the parking lot at the Gurnee Wal-Mart. When asked if she reported it to the police, she asked, "Why would I do that?" She failed five of five field sobriety tests and refused breath tests. A search of her car turned up a plastic film canister containing a green leaf substance that field-tested positive for cannabis. She was charged with speeding, DUI, improper lane usage, improper lighting and possession of cannabis. She was released after posting her driver's license and $100 cash on a $1,000 bond pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Feb. 19, at 9 a.m.

DII

American Airlines pilot Bruce M. Stocco, 42, of 39311 Summerside Dr., Antioch, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Feb. 4, at 12:49 a.m. on Rte. 132 near Hawthorne Drive. Police traveling eastbound encountered Stocco heading westbound with his high beams on. When 50 feet from the police car, Stocco dimmed his beams, displaying a burned-out driver's side headlight. He was weaving in his lane. Police detected an odor of alcohol on his breath when they approached. He admitted to having two drinks. He failed three field sobriety tests, and then refused all others. He requested an attorney. The driver appeared to be crying, and he was heard to say, "This will ruin my career." He was charged with improper lighting, failure to signal a turn, transport of alcohol in open containers, failure to dim headlights and DUI. He was released after posting his driver's license and $100 cash, pending an appearance in court on Feb. 19, at 9 a.m.

Pompeyo Zajuan, 44, of 1108 Greenfield Ave., Waukegan, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Feb. 2, at 10:51 p.m. on Rte. 132 near the AT&T tower when he was observed driving 48 mph in a 35-mph zone. He activated his high beams as vehicles approached, crossed the double yellow line several times and continued driving for a quarter-mile after police activated their lights and sirens. He failed four of four field sobriety tests, and registered .10 BAC on a PBT, and .107 BAC on an Intoxilizer test. He told police "I don't feel drunk. I only had two beers." His wife and child were passengers I the car. He was charged with speeding, improper lane usage, improper lighting, DUI, DUI over .08 BAC and child endangerment. He was released after posting his driver's license pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Feb. 19, at 9 a.m.

Borislav Ozegovic, 22, of 3170 S. 53rd St., Milwaukee, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Feb. 3, at 2:46 a.m., at the intersection of routes 132 and 45. Wen he turned eastbound onto Grand, police observed he turned into the inside lane, not the outside lane, and he crossed the yellow lane lines. He failed five of five field sobriety tests, and registered .121 BAC on a PBT and .127 BAC on an Intoxilizer test. He was charged with improper turning, improper lane usage, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. He was released after posting 10 percent of a $3,000 bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402 on Feb. 26, at 9 a.m.

The Antioch Evangelical Free Church and the Illinois Department of Natural Resources (IDNR) closed a three-way land deal with Peter and Thalia Anest with IDNR acquiring 128 acres leaving 80-plus acres church in the area of the Wing Red Slough.

"When we started looking at the property two years ago, it was 209 acres or nothing," said Pastor Groleau. "We couldn't afford those acres, so when the IDNR contacted us last spring it was the answer to our prayers."

Groleau said the church is rapidly outgrowing the facility it has now, and will use some of the 80 of a better neighbor to have than acres located at North Avenue and Deep Lake Rd. for a future worship center.

"We want to do something to benefit the community," said

Groleau. "We want to offer the community (including those over the border in Wisconsin) sports fields, youth activities and an elder care center - something other than houses or a Wal-Mart."

He said that for right now the church has a broad vision and that nothing has been set in stone. He added that the church would have to pay off the mortgage on We want to offer the community the property before it considers building a new youth activities and an elder care structure.

er," said Groleau.

The IDNR property is located directly south of the church's property.

Groleau said he couldn't think IDNR. "It was a perfect match for us," he said. "We have the same vision for people to enjoy the property doing things like bird watching."

30 member group welcomes women who like to sing

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Women are invited to sing along as the Westosha Lakes Chorus, part of Sweet Adelines International, prepares to celebrate its first anniversary on Feb. 15.

"Absolutely any woman who likes to sing is welcome to come join us," said Debra Maki, one of the founding members.

The Westosha group began with five members and has since grown to 30 members. "We do a lot of community singing engagements," said Maki of the group that often breaks into smaller quartets or mother/daughter combinations.

The chorus is planning to participate in its first competition later this spring in Oshkosh, Wis. Maki said the prospect of competing is very exciting. If the group wins in regional competition, it may be eligible to eventually compete internationally.

Maki said the group sings in a variety of different styles including straight barbershop, contemporary, country/western, patriotic, religious and, during the holiday season, sings Christmas carols as well.

Westosha Lakes Chorus is directed by Polly Merrill, and meets weekly on Thursday evenings from 7-9:30 p.m. at the Christ Lutheran Church in Paddock Lake, Wis. near the intersection of Highway 50 and Rte. 83.

For more information, call Maki at 262-279-5767 or Dede Umland at 847-356-8356.

Police solve Tiffany Farms thefts

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Antioch Police solved a series of thefts occurring over the last six months in the Tiffany Farms subdivision with the arrest of two juveniles on Jan. 25.

Most of the thefts were to unlocked vehicles in the neighbor-

"The thefts were very random," said Det. Sgt. Craig Somerville. "We had increased patrol and surveillance efforts, but they were in and out of the shadows. If they saw headlights they'd run and be gone."

Somerville said police received a break when an alert resident called to report one of the juveniles kneeling down near a construction trailer at Tiffany Farms rd. and Indian Trail Rd. He said the subject appeared to be looking through a Police responded to the area and located the juvenile walking westbound on North Avenue. An investigation led to the identification of a second juvenile and the recovery of property that included merchandise stolen Jewel/Osco and Antioch Schwinn.

Police recovered about $500 worth of property. The two juveniles face charges of burglary to numerous motor vehicles, retail theft from Jewel Foods, theft of a bicycle from Antioch Schwinn, theft from the Antioch True Value Hardware and attempted theft from a coin operated machine at the Antioch Car Wash.

Somerville said the juveniles were walking through the neighborhood at night checking car door handles and stealing small items such as loose change, cigarettes, sunglasses and cell phones. "It is apparent that several vehicles were entered that were not reported to police," said Somerville.

Somerville urges residents to report such occurrences. "We realize people don't want to call police about seemingly minor thefts, but it is extremely important to do so," he said. "When a dozen or more neighbors have experienced similar incidents, you realize the magnitude of the problem."

He recommends removing valuables from the car and locking the doors.

Somerville added, "Thanks to the actions of a citizen willing to get involved, we were able to clear up a series of thefts and identify the theft suspects."

Both juveniles have been referred to juvenile court on multiple theft and burglary charges. Recovered property was returned to its rightful owners.

SCHOOL DIGEST

Elementary students prove patriotism

The Sequoit VFW Post 4551 hosted a scholarship competition for seventh- and eighth-graders as part of the national VFW "Voice of Democracy" competition.

The seventh- and eighth-graders were required to write a 300-500 word essay on "Is Freedom Really Free?"

Joe Barlow won first place locally and third place in the district (5th district in Illinois.

Justin Kaminsky and Anthony Baschetti were runners-up in the competition.

Students competed in eliminations locally and then could move on to compete within district (Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Grayslake and Winthrop Harbor), statewide and nationally. Awards for local-level winners are $100 savings bonds from Post 4551.

Parent University upcoming

The Antioch-Lake Villa-Lindenhurst Parent University has scheduled Kenwyn Hopper as keynote speaker for its second program to be held on Feb. 23 at the Antioch Community High School (ACHS).

Over the course, parents can participate in seminars and break out sessions geared toward giving them strategies for helping with communication and parenting skills.

Hopper's presentation, "Parents influence their children's esteem through their style of parenting," will take place from 9-10:30 a.m. in the school's auditorium.

Some of the topics for the break out sessions are as follows: "How to Talk so Kids Will Listen," Hopper; "Healthy Eating for You and Your Family," Corinne Bronson-Adatto; "Are Learning Styles Important?" Ann Kakacek (K-12); "ADHD and Depression," Michael Feld; and "Breaking the Cycle of Conflict - How to Survive the Teenage Years," Rose Garlasco, Ph.D. (6-12).

The cost of registration is $10 for the first family member and $5 for each additional family member for those received by Feb. 15. After that date, registration will take place at the door for an additional $5 per registrant.

Fees include all of the workshops, resource fair and a continental breakfast.

Questions should be addressed to 847-395-1421, ext. 7644.

Kids conference recognizes problems

Antioch Upper Grade School (AUGS) utilizes a program called Kids Conference to keep students active in problem solving around school.

Six to nine students from the sixth, seventh and eighth grade are selected and meet weekly during lunch with teachers Alicia Fritz and Dave Kruger and principal Eric Skoog to discuss problems they feel the school is having. The purpose is to come up with solutions to the problems.

Students also visit with students from other schools at National Lewis University to discuss problems and possible solutions.

Formal presentations of the Kids Conference are made in March at the university.

Fun Fair coming to W.C. Petty

W.C. Petty School has scheduled its fun fair for March 16 at the Antioch Upper Grade School gymnasium from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. There will be games and several magic shows.

The public is welcome. Entry is free, and games are only $.25. Lunch will be available in the cafeteria.

POLICE BEAT

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Possession of cocaine

Candice Butler, 33, of 25621 Herman Ave., Antioch, was arrested for possession of cocaine on Feb. 3 at 8:10 p.m. at the intersection of Spafford and Lake St.

She was stopped for improper registration and failure to secure new registration. It was determined Butler was also driving with a suspended driver's license and operating an uninsured vehicle.

Antioch Police Lt. Ronald Roth said a clear plastic baggie with a white powdery substance was found on Butler and that it tested positive for cocaine. She was additionally charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

Roth said she was held until she could be transported to bond court in Waukegan the following day.

Possession of cannabis, drug paraphernalia

Jason E. Fries, 19, of 935 Robin Court, Antioch, was arrested for possession of cannabis and drug paraphernalia on Feb. 1 at 11:53 p.m. on Main St. at Wilton.

Fries was stopped for driving down Main St. without using his headlights.

He provided police with an Illinois identification card. The officer detected the strong odor of "freshly burnt cannabis" coming from the interior of the vehicle.

Fries identification was checked through LEADS and came back with information that his driver's license was suspended. He was arrested and secured in the squad car.

While conducting a search of the vehicle, the officer found a wooden "one hitter" box that contained unburned cannabis and a brass smoking pipe covered with cannabis residue.

The officer conducted a K-9 contraband search with the dog alerting the area above the steering wheel. The officer checked the area and found a clear baggy containing about four grams of cannabis hidden in the driver's visor.

Fries was transported to the Antioch
Police Dept. and was issued citations for no headlights when required, driving while suspended, possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of cannabis. He was put through booking procedures and released on a personal recognizance bond pending court.

Aggravated DUI

Tom P. Gerlach, 39, of 5228 Berteau, Chicago, was arrested for an aggravated count of driving under the influence of alcohol on Feb. 3 at 11:54 p.m. on Rte. 173 west of Deep Lake Rd.

Police locked Gerlach's vehicle at 78 mph in a posted 55-mph zone. Gerlach started out giving the officer "head nod" answers. When the officer asked for verbal responses, the strong odor of alcoholic beverage was detected as well as slurred speech.

Gerlach failed all field sobriety tests given to him. He was arrested and secured in the squad car. His identifiers were checked and information came back that he was suspend#### ed for DUI.

He was transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he refused chemical testing. Gerlach was put through booking procedures and placed in a cell to await notification from the Lake County State's Attorney. Assistant State's Attorney Garrett Wheeler approved the aggravated DUI charge given the prior suspension for DUI.

Gerlach was issued citations for speeding, aggravated DUI and driving while suspended.

DII

David P. Geer, 24, of 21929 W. Michele Lane, Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on Feb. 4 at 1:26 a.m. on northbound Main St. at Orchard.

Geer "fumbled" through his pockets and finally produced a state identification card. The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage at that time.

Geer reportedly was confused when asked to recite the alphabet and then stopped when he got to the letter M. He failed all field sobriety tests requested of him.

He was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was issued a citation for driving under the influence of alcohol. Geer agreed to chemical testing that resulted in a .193 blood alcohol concentra-

He was put through booking procedures and issued additional citations for improper lane usage, driving with a blood alcohol concentration over .08 and for having expired registration.

Geer was allowed several phone calls, but was unable to secure bond.

Pedro Avila, 26, of 25385 Rte. 173, Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on Feb. 4 at 1:53 a.m. on Lake St.

Police locked Avila's vehicle traveling 35 mph in a posted 20-mph zone. As the officer approached the driver's side of the car, drool was coming from Avila's mouth.

The passenger had to put the vehicle in park as it had moved forward and assist Avila in opening the driver's side door.

The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage and noted Avila's slurred speech. Avila told police he did not have a driver's license.

Avila reportedly fell to the ground when he exited the vehicle to perform field sobriety tests. Tests were ceased for safety reasons.

During inventory for tow, the officer found an open bottle of beer.

Avila was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he agreed to chemical testing resulting in .267 blood alcohol concentration. He was put through booking procedures and placed in a cell to await bond

Avila was issued citations for speeding, DUI, no valid driver's license, operation of an uninsured vehicle, DUI over .08 and illegal transportation of alcohol.

Claims lead to obstructing police charge

Daniel Davis, 33, of 375 Windsor Drive, Antioch, was arrested for obstructing police following a hit and run investigation on Jan. 29.

According to Antioch Police Det. Sgt. Craig Somerville, Davis reported being struck and thrown from a vehicle driven by his ex-wife following a verbal dispute. Police conducted an extensive investigation that included processing the involved vehicle for evidence of Davis's claim.

Davis was subsequently interviewed and charged with obstructing police, a class A misdemeanor punishable by up to one year in county jail.

Davis's court date is set for Feb. 19 at 9 a.m. in Waukegan.

Cubs race cars in Pinewood Derby

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

"The Pinewood Derby has been going on for as long as the pack has been around," said Jim Hutchinson, a parent volunteer in charge of the derby for Cub Pack 191. About 40 boys participated in this year's competition.

Boys from the four divisions Tiger Cub, Wolf Cub, Bear Cub and Webelos (ranging from the first to fifth grade) construct cars made from pinewood blocks that fit within prescribed length, width and weight and meet annually to race their wooden creations.

These days, the race is timed with a computer program using light sensors to ensure accuracy.

"The boys should be building the cars themselves," said Hutchinson, adding that the younger divisions are permitted to get parental help.

Den leader Wayne Gantz added that the pack provides a basic kit and instructions, but from there the boys are allowed to add weights (within limits) and decorate the cars as they see fit.

Winners receive trophies and certificates. "There are categories for the best decorated car, too," said Gantz. "It's not just who's fastest."

First, second and third prizes are awarded in each division and those boys go on to compete for overall champion.

In the Tiger Cub division, Kevin McCannon took first place, Daniel Zirkelbach took second and Jake DeGrave took third. Nicholas Testin took first place in the Wolf division, and Cody Sullivan took second and Travis Gantz took third.

In the Bears division, Jacob Summers took first place, Thomas Brandt placed second and Robert Nelson third. Michael took first place in the Webelos division, and Kevin Collings placed second and Thomas O'Brien third.

Kevin Collings placed first in the Interrank of Champions (IROC) race, while Michael Donner placed second and Thomas Brandt third.

All of the boys received candy bars donated by the White Hen/Clark station.

Firefighters benefit from Ladies Auxiliary donation

$1,000 goes to New York firefighters' fund

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

The Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post 4551 presented $1,000 to the Antioch Fire Dept. to in turn go to one of the New York firefighters' funds.

"We want the money to go to whoever is most needy," said Dorothee Himber, who spearheaded the fundraising project.

The ladies made lapel pins of varied decorative varieties had sweatshirts made with flags on the back to the specifications of the orderer to raise the money.

"We worked on the project between October and the end of the year," said Himber. "It makes you feel good to do for others."

Himber and the ladies of the VFW auxiliary aren't ones to rest on their laurels and are already in the planning process of their next project all while starting the ball rolling for the April 13 blood drive.

Sunday open house for Little Lambs Preschool

Parents and alumni from Antioch, Lake Villa, Grayslake, Round Lake and Spring Grove are invited to return and reminisce at an anniversary open house for Little Lambs Preschool and Trinity Kids Club from 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 10.

This is the 15th anniversary for Little Lambs Preschool, held in the old white frame Trinity Church building on Route 134 near Long Lake. Begun with eight students, it now has 90 in classes for kids ages 3, 4 and pre-K. Projects such as valentines, art work, and pictures from past activities and holidays will be displayed.

Director Peggy Weeg urges, "You have to see what they have done with the old church—it is transformed into a beautiful, safe harbor for our community kids."

It will also be the 10th anniversary for Kids Klub, which started with 20 students and now has 130 in the before and after school care for students 4-11 years old. Director Jean Johnson heads a group of five counselors: Breanna Frey, Peggy Fontaine, Carol Jarocki, Relke Lancaster and Van Slyke.

Bank helps provide 'A Safe Place'

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

"A Safe Place," a not-for-profit agency that provides multifaceted programs to eliminate violence in Lake County, will be the beneficiary of the First National Bank-Employee Owned's (FNBEO) Casual because We Care Day to be held on Feb. 15.

"We get their newsletter and we try to help this cause annually because they do so much for people in Lake County," said Karen Kubin, the bank's marketing director.

Service provided by A Safe Place include providing a shelter, individual and group counseling, a children's counseling program, advocacy, treatment for abusive men as well as community training and education training.

The bank hosts a casual day once a month. "It's kind of a double morale booster," said Kubin. "We get to dress casually and help someone at the same time."

On Feb. 15, FNBEO employees will donate $2 for the privilege of dressing casually. All of the proceeds will go to A Safe Place, and community members are invited to make donations at either the Antioch or Gurnee location.

"We don't set a goal (of how much money the bank would like to raise)," said Kubin. "We just ask that each employee give $2, and then we welcome any other donations."

The bank's program has been running since 1995.

For more information, call Kubin at 847-838-2265. Donations by mail can be sent to First National Bank-Employee Owned c/o Casual because We Care, 485 Lake St., Antioch, IL 60002.

Centennial Playground celebrates 10th anniversary

Believe it or not this is the 10th anniversary of the Centennial Playground.

This project was a community wide event and the whole town came together, under the direction of Ted and Vicki Axton, to help build this playground in five days. This project won the Governor's Home Town Award.

The anniversary celebration will be held on Saturday, May 11 to honor everyone involved.

The Parks and Recreation Dept. is sponsoring a contest for Antioch children to design a T-shirt and flag for this event. Any child that would like to enter this contest and submit their design, have them put it on a 8 by 10 white sheet of paper to the Parks office at 806 Holbek by March 15. Include their name, address and phone number on an index card. The winner will have their design printed on T-shirts that will be sold at the event and also on a flag that will fly at Centennial Playground. The winner will also receive a free pool pass to the Antioch Aqua Center for the 2002 season. The designs will be judged by the Antioch Park Commission The designs will be judged by the

Dunham selected as 2001 Midwest Sailor of the Year

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER Staff Reporter

Patrick Dunham, a former member of the Lindenhurst Board of Trustees, has been nominated as RECOM Midwest U.S. Navy SELRES (Selective Reserves) Sailor of the Year 2001 after wining the honor for Sailor of the Year of the Great Lakes Naval Reserve Center.

The nomination follows his previous selection as Sailor of the Year in his command, after receiving recognition as Sailor of the Quarter for the second quarter of 2001.

Each of the nine reserve centers in the Midwest Region submits its choice to be selected for national Sailor of the Year. Each of the regional candidates' packages was reviewed by 104 Chiefs, Senior Chiefs and Master Chiefs.

Dunham will go on to the national competition for Naval Reserve Sailor of the Year, to be held in New Orleans in March.

Raising donations for a team trip, or even the simplest thing like a uniform, are the usual common themes.

But on Feb. 2, there was a different kind of fun, or fund-raiser, as the case was, going on during the Libertyville boys varsity hoops game with Wauconda.

The LHS varsity Pom Pon squad, a supersectional qualifier this season, came up with another idea a few years ago.

Cats events. But this was the first basketball game where they collected donations for a disease that is so personal and touches so a number of women, as well as others in one way or another. Padgett was a long-time language and literature teacher at Highland Middle School in Libertyville. "A lot of the girls on the squad had her for a teacher," added one of the squads cocaptains, senior Maggie Groner. "She was a terrific lady. Everyone really liked her." Meanwhile, Belchenko's mom, Laura, is the past president of the Pom Parent Organization, established six years ago. She currently spearheads most of the Pom Pon squad's fund-raisers.

"This is a good way to earn money and give back to the community," she said. "We have numerous 'fun-raisers', as we call them. But tonight was truly a 'fund-raiser'. It touches a lot of people's hearts."

The Pom squad performed a halftime routine in dedication to Padgett, who was only 44 when she died.

"This is why Libertyville is such a great community," said Athletic Director Tim Albers. "There's so much togetherness. And you couldn't have a better cause (for the fund-raiser tonight) because it (breast cancer) affects a lot of people."

Meanwhile, the Poms frequented the aisles during the game collecting funds totaling over $800, all of which goes towards the American Cancer and Breast Cancer Society.

"We're going to try and do at least two of these a year, especially on Senior Night," said squad member Lindsey Koster. "We definitely want to keep it going. We'll be collecting more at school throughout the year."

A special thank you from your truly goes out to Mrs. Belchenko and the Poms as one of my dear relatives has been battling the disease for several years.

Business as usual for Antioch-Shotokan Karate

By JOHN PHELPS Sports Editor

Antioch Shotokan Karate demonstrated its usual dominance at the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) State tournament over the weekend held at Lake Zurich High School.

For the day, ASK took home around 28 medals while producing state 12 champs.

"All of the students have been working very hard," said ASK's Owner and Chief Instructor, Sensei Anna Conners, a gold medallist in the Black Belt division in Kata. "Everyone that competed for us today qualified for regionals. So safe to say, it was a good day for us."

Kunite is light contact fighting, where the first competitor to win three points is declared the winner. Combatants are also judged how clean their technique is. They are also judged by the difficulty of their routine. Competitors can score with facial contact, even though it is not technically allowed. There is also no contact to the joints.

In Kata, competitors demonstrate a series of moves fighting an invisible opponent. According to Sensei Conners, scores are calculated based on precision, power, concentration and timing.

The final category of competition was Kobudo, where participants use Kata, only with weapons.

ASK did well in all areas. Black Belt Graham Conners, a 16-year-old native of Antioch and senior at ACHS, earned the silver in Kata and bronze in Kumite, but not without paying his dues.

"In Kumite, my opponent and I went for a strike at the same time. I hit his stomach but he got me pretty good in the ribs—they're a little sore right now," said Conners, whose been training (and competing) for close to eight years.

"I was pretty satisfied, though. I usually finish second or third."

Forty-two-year-old David Keller of Antioch also didn't do too shabby in this, his first AAU Registration tournament.

Keller wound up taking home the silver medal in both Kata and Kumite.

"I hung in there," said Keller, who competed in the brown belt division. Keller has been training with ASK for close to six years. "There was a lot of good competition. But there's also a lot of friendships that develop out here."

For those unfamiliar, competing in an AAU Registration tournament, or promotional tournament, is a chance to get your AAU card. It serves as a boost, in other words, for a student's AAU membership.

silver in Kata while Calvert was a gold medallist in sparring.

"Both train and work very hard," said Sensei Conners. "I was impressed. They usually shut-down during competition. But both shined today."

Sensei Joe Mirza of the Traditional Karate/Do Organization in Lake Zurich ran the tournament. Sensei Mirza is one of the top instructors around but primarily holds more administrative duties. He runs the regional and national tournaments while also serving as the regional and AAU national chairman.

The regional competition will be held at Lake Zurich High School April 20-21. Kids up to age 12 will compete the first day while 13- andolder competitors will stage battle on Sunday.

Antioch bowls over competition at Warren sectional

By ROB BACKUS Staff Reporter

For the first time since 1994; Antioch girls bowling qualified for the state tournament by virtue of a second place showing in the Warren sectional held at Bertrand Lanes in Waukegan.

"It feels pretty good," said head coach Steve Haenchen. "When you go from fifth (in qualifying) to second it's always exciting."

The Lady Sequoits finished with a total of 4,868 pins (745-893-740-839-785-866), just 12 pins behind first-place Buffalo Grove and 34 pins ahead of third-place Libertyville.

"The conditions at Bertrand's create close matches," said Haenchen. "No one can really

However, the second-place showing was in doubt until the final game as Antioch was in fourth place, 45 pins out of second.

"We felt like we had a good game left in us," said Haenchen. "We were shooting for 850 and we shot an 866."

In qualifying for the state tournament, all five members of the team can compete for individual honors but Antioch's best chance for an individual medalist lies with Susan Carlson.

Carlson finished third in the sectional with a score of 1,057 (216 high), 53 pins behind champion Kelly Richards of Buffalo Grove.

"I hope that Susan can have the same type of consistent performance (at state), just with higher scores," said Haenchen. "If she throws the ball the same, she'll probably score bet-

Other top performers for the Sequiots : were Kelly O'Connell (8th, 1,010, 189 high), Jackie Feldman (11th, 1,003, 214 high), Rachel DeBoer (28th, 930, 175 high) and Susie Martz (36th, 868, 169 high).

As a team, Haenchen is cautiously optimistic of Antioch's chances.

"I'm not sure what to expect," said Haenchen. "The team has been a surprise at times and a disappointment at times. But I expect we'll do well because we've been able to handle just about every other situation so

Also in Antioch's favor are the conditions at Rockford's Cherry Bowl, the site of the state tournament, which are usually conducive to higher scores.

"Cherry Bowl is a synthetic alley with more finish on the back end," said Haenchen. "The scores should be higher than at Bertrand's."

The state tournament will take place at Cherry Bowl in Rockford on Feb. 8-9.

Sequoit girls brace for Bears

By JOE PRUSKI Correspondent

The odds are stacked against the Antioch High School girl's basketball team and head. coach Don Zeman knows it.

Antioch will travel to Lake Zurich Feb. 11 to take on the sectional hosting Lake Zurich Bears in the first round of the 2002 IHSA playoffs.

"We know we are the underdogs, that's very clear to us," said Zeman.

The underdog becomes very evident when you take a look at Lake Zurich's resume. Lake Zurich is 26-0 overall and 16-0 in conference and is the only undefeated team in Class AA girl's basketball. They are ranked as high as second in the ·Chicagoland area in the Chicago Tribune. They are the Antioch's tional they host whereas NSC Antioch is the 15th-seed.

player Johanna Solverson, Photo by who has been recruited by the Johnson University of Iowa to play Big Ten basketball next year.

With all this force going against a 10-17 Antioch team, one might think that the players, even coaches, may be a little fearful of Monday's game. But they're not.

"The girl's haven't been scared by anyone this year," said Zeman. Besides, Lake Zurich will be facing off against an Antioch squad that has proven they are better than the record may suggest. Since Christmas, Antioch has gone 10-5.

According to Zeman, the team has learned how to win. They plan on taking that knowledge along with a defensive game plan into the contest with the Bears.

"We really need to turn it up the heat defensively," said Zeman. "We've been holding teams under 20 points a half lately, and we held North Chicago to seven. We also need to bring are best offense as well. 🗣

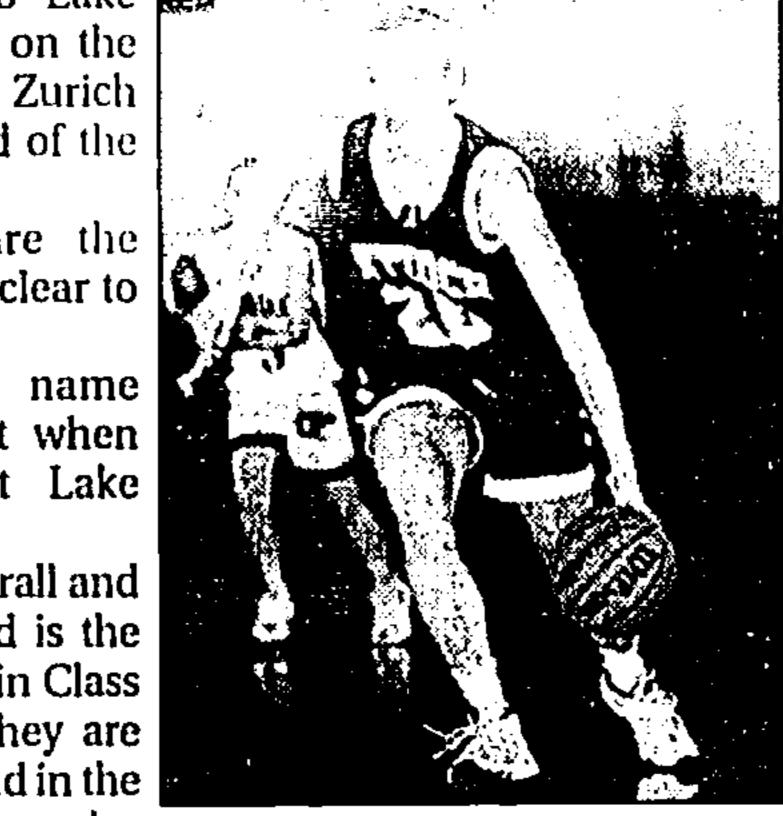

Antioch will go into the game coming off of a 58-34 victory over Round Lake. Starla Williams led the Sequoits in scoring with 13 apiece. Alex Mika contributed 11 points and Dina Izenstark added 10 in the 24-Dewar point victory.

"We played a very good game second half," said Zeman. H. cern for us this season."

Speaking of upsets, over 42 million households tuned into the Super Bowl on Sunday to watch the New England Patriots upset the St. Louis Rams. Antioch's Zeman likes to see that.

"The Patriots and the Rams fit right into our view; an upset can occur when a team has a good game plan and executes," said Zeman.

Bulldog grapplers lead area contingent to sectionals

Oliver the lone qualifier from Antioch

By ROB BACKUS Staff Reporter

In a tournament where the victory was by the slimmest of margins, and which could have easily been reversed,

Grant came up just short at the Warren wrestling regional over the weekend.

The Bulldogs finished second to Waukegan with 203.5 points, just one point out of first, ending their season as a team.

"The kids wrestled real well," said head coach Ryan Geist. "We just came up on the short end of the stick."

With the margin as close as it was, it was obvious to Geist that Grant could have easily won the tournament with a slight change of luck here or there.

"I thought we wrestled well enough to win, but they (Waukegan) just wrestled better," said Geist. "We didn't lose the title, they just won it."

On a positive note for Grant, each of its 14 wrestlers scored points as nine advanced to the upcoming individual sectionals at Barrington.

Those who advanced for Grant, by virtue of finishing in the top three, included: Mike Simmons (1st place, 103 pounds), Sean Quirk (1st, 130), Matt Fiordirosa (1st, 135), Rudy Reyes (1st, 140), Brian Driscoll (1st, 145), Neal Ganno (2nd, 152), Jesse Linczmaier (3rd, 160), Mike Scherrer (2nd, 215) and Jason Purcell (3rd, 275).

"All of our kids wrestled to their seeds," said Geist. "And a few wrestled better."

The host Devils had several qualify for the individual sectional. That list included: Rich Armour (2nd, 103), Matt Hooczko (3rd, 112), Edwin Gonzalez (3rd, 130), Dan Doyle (3rd, 140), Brett Caselli (1st, 152), John Carroll (3rd, 171), Marcus Byrd (3rd, 215) and Rick Soto (1st, 275). As a team, Warren finished a respectable third with 138 points.

PHIANELINGS.PP.

The Round Lake Panthers had a successful regional in finishing fourth (121.5). Heading to Barrington for the individual sectional included: Scott Pocasangre (2nd, 112), Thomas Ochoa (3rd, 119), Jon Gomez (3rd, 125), Victor Rico (2nd, 135), Tim Schuck (3rd, 152), Rob Walleck (1st, 171) and Dominick Cirelli (2nd, 189).

Other Lakeland-area qualifiers included, from Grayslake, Ruben Estrada (1st, 119), Frank Agnoli (1st, 125), Josh Mellender (2nd, 145) and Chris Mellender (1st, 160). Steve Oliver was the lone qualifier from Antioch, finishing third in the 189-pound weight class.

The Barrington individual sectionals will take place on Feb. 8-9. Winners advance to the IHSA individual state tournament, which will take place on Jan. 15-16 at Assembly Hall on the campus of the University of Illinois-Champaign-Urbana.

According to Natalie Kulig, a leader at the St. Gilbert SPRED program, when a parent discovers that they have a child who is developmentally delayed their entire world changes. Kulig's 5-year-old daughter has autism, which is why Kulig became involved in the program. She heard about the program at St. Patrick in Wadsworth through her sister, and decided to get involved. Kulig said, "Out of all the things I could do, that was something I could do well because I can understand their needs."

Sister Donna Schmitt, director of religious education and parish chairperson for the SPRED program, said that many families feel uncomfortable in church with a developmentally delayed family member. Because many people with disabilities may make loud noises or be disruptive during a church service, families often feel as if they do not belong. It is difficult to find an accepting community for such families. In addition, the developmentally delayed do not receive the spiritual nourishment that other parishioners do.

Traditional religious education does not work for those with special needs. They cannot learn spiritual truths in a classroom setting that is similar to the school rooms many dread entering. "Instead of setting them in a classroom of 15 kids," said one on one." By assigning a "helper" to each person with special needs, a "friend," religious education becomes more accessible. "That's the beautiful thing about this program, we treat them like they are special," said Sister Schmitt.

Friends are treated so special, in fact, that helpers are required to go through several training sessions, and spend time with the friend's family before actually helping. Everything from music, toys, curtains and lighting to the smile on each helper's face is meant to make the friends feel special. "What the church does," Schmitt said, "is try to take care of all the people in their area. What the SPRED program does is take care of those who have special needs." Using symbols instead of lesson plans, friends learn about God. In one lesson, Kulig showed the group at St. Gilbert a bird's nest. She explained that the nest is the home of the bird. Because each child in the group can relate to a bird's nest, when Kulig said that the SPRED community is like a nest where God takes care of his people, they could understand it. By personalizing the symbols, helpers can teach spiritual realities, which mean more to friends than memorizing the Ten Commandments and the church creeds.

Requiring a home visit gives helpers the chance to discover how to he award-winning contemporary female group "Trin-i-tee 5:7," featuring Chanelle Haynes, Angel Taylor and Adrian Anderson, will perform as guest artists at the 18th annual "Salute to Gospel Music" concert on Feb. 16 at the College of Lake County. The CLC Gospel Choir, led by director Mark Cosey, will open the program at 7 p.m. in the Mainstage Theatre on CLC's Grayslake campus.

Trin-i-tee 5:7, named for a verse in the New Testament book of 1st John, exploded onto the music scene with its self-titled debut album, which remained in the number one position on Billboard's Top Gospel Album chart for seven weeks. The album was also honored with the Stellar Award for New Artists of the Year and the 1998 GMWA Award of Excellence. The R. Kelly-produced debut single, "God's Grace," reached the top 10 on R&R's Urban AC Chart.

The group's new album, "Spiritual Love," was produced by gospel music industry heavy-hitters Armando Colon, Fred Jerkins III, Joe Wilson and Gerald Isaac, with guest vocalists Kirk Franklin, Tramaine Hawkins and Crystal Lewis. Through their music, the members of the trio, all in their 20s, reach across all generations and musical genres.

Tickets to the concert are $10 for the general public; $8 for CLC students, alumni, seniors 65 and over, and children under 12. For tickets, call the CLC box office at 847-543-2300.

Trin-i-tee 5:7, Angel Taylor, Chanelle Haynes and Adrian Anderson will perform at the 18th Annual Salute to Gospel Music at CLC Feb. 16.

'Waiting To Be Invited' a study in courage

o one today would think twice about four black women setting out to grab a bite at a big department store in downtown Atlanta.

But in 1964, the year in which S.M. Shephard-Massat has set her spirited play, "Waiting To Be Invited," times were different. Civil rights were still being defined. Society was so racially divided that whites-only lunch counters were common in many parts of the country.

Shephard-Massat's drama, making its Midwest premiere at Chicago's Victory Gardens Theater, focuses on the fear and trepidation that four ordinary but resolute women had to overcome when they decided to put to the test a Supreme Court ruling banning segregation.

As one of the characters keenly observes late in the second act, "One day, nobody will care. This will be old hat." However, at the time, besides a hostile reception, the woman didn't know what to expect.

Would someone try to poison them or, at the very least, spit in their food? Would they be overcharged or, worse yet, dragged off to jail? Up until the last moment, they wrestled over their motives for being there and waffled over whether to carry out their mission.

"Waiting To Be Invited," directed by Ilesa Lisa Duncan, features three doll factory co-workers, played by Irma P. Hall (in a bravura performance), Jacqueline Williams and Velma Austin along with a friend (played by Kimberly Herbert-Gregory). Together, they have agreed to challenge the system. On the bus ride downtown, neither the black driver (Kenn Head) nor an elderly white passenger (Mary Ann Thebus) can sidetrack them from their goal.

Shephard-Massat's lively characters dress in their Sunday clothes and speak with a real-life fervor. Mary Griswold's sets are simple but effective.

If a bird's nest is used as part of a lesson, helpers may know when their friends had once found a bird's nest or seen it in a tree, and helpers can better relate the lesson to their friends.

At 9:30 a.m. every other Saturday morning, parents come to the SPRED facility at St. Gilbert and other parishes to drop off their children. Helpers greet the children and invite them to participate in the activities available. Though many have trouble at school, they quietly play games together, sharing toys, or listening as a helper reads a

At St. Gilbert, a friend named Mike was especially courteous. "Want to do clay with me?" he asked a boy in green sweatpants. Mike lugged the huge container of clay to the table and started scraping out clay for his new friend. Together they sculpted with clay and got used to their first experience at SPRED. Mike decided to build a candle holder, and his adopted father helped over Mike's shoulder. The activity time is meant to give the children a chance to calm down and get accustomed to their surroundings. They are given a full hour to get used to their surroundings and become ready to receive the lesson.

Each detail in the room is designed to welcome the children. "We need to give them a place where they can be who they are," said Kulig. The lighting is soft, an open cabinet holds toys to play with, a screen divides the play area from the sanctuary and a rest area with rocking chairs and pillows awaits sleepy friends. In the sanctuary, divided from the rest of the room by a screen and a semicircle of chairs, there is an alter with an open Bible, flowers and a bird's nest.

"They are a person, a child of God," explained Sister Schmitt, "and we help them see that." After the friends had finished their activities, Kulig invited each friend into the sanctuary. Kulig told the children that they would learn about God and Jesus, and that "Jesus comes to us through the Holy Bible."

She picked up the Bible from the alter on the floor. Then Kulig showed each child the bird's nest next to the alter. She asked if they knew what it was, and the friends were excited to see it so close. She said, "it is amazing that something as little as a bird made something like this." The kids looked at the nest, and some reached out to touch it. "Birds grew up in this nest," she told them. "We are going to build a new family."

Through this type of instruction Kulig hopes to teach a lesson about a "deeper reality." Kulig said, "I grew up with it. My hope is to help these children without using textbooks, but using real things they can touch." Instead of teaching a concrete lesson, she wants to "sort of invoke a feeling." She believes that a feeling will teach the friends in her SPRED group something that Sunday school lessons could not, though she does use a curriculum. She explains that her daughter could memorize the Ten Commandments, but it would not mean anything to her.

The SPRED community allows the developmentally delayed to enjoy all the sacraments of the Catholic Church. Liturgy is specially adapted so that they can participate. Based on the belief that everyone can glorify God, friends are encouraged to move and vocalize their worship however they feel. Following the service, friends and their helpers prepare a meal. They set the table, according to Kulig, to symbolize their participation of the Lord's Table. The friends learn it by doing it.

SPRED programs are held at Catholic parishes all over Lake County. For children ages 6 – 10, St. Gilbert in Grayslake and St. Patrick in Wadsworth have programs. St. Joseph in Libertyville, St. Paul the Apostle in Gurnee and St. Mary of Vernon in Vernon Hills hold programs for 11 – 16-year-olds. St. Peter in Antioch serves 17 – 21-year-olds. For those 22 and older, there are programs at St. Dismas in Gurnee, Holy Family in Waukegan, St. Mary's in Lake Forest, Santa Maria Del Popolo in Mundelein and St. Joseph in Libertyville.

Celebrate 'Women in Jazz' at Gorton

imited tickets are now available for "Cabin Fever Jazz" concerts celebrating "Women In Jazz," Sundays, at Gorton Community Center, 400 E. Illinois Rd. in Lake Forest. Since 1989, music lovers of all ages have enjoyed hundreds of musicians and vocalists performing a wide variety of jazz music.

The concerts are presented cabaret-style, with a premium beer, wine, and soft drink cash bar. Concerts are held from 4-6 p.m. Tickets are $15 per person, $10 for students. Two performances of "An Evening with Patricia Barber" will be offered in the Baggett Auditorium, and tickets are $25 for all seats. Choose from the 4 p.m. or 6 p.m. show.

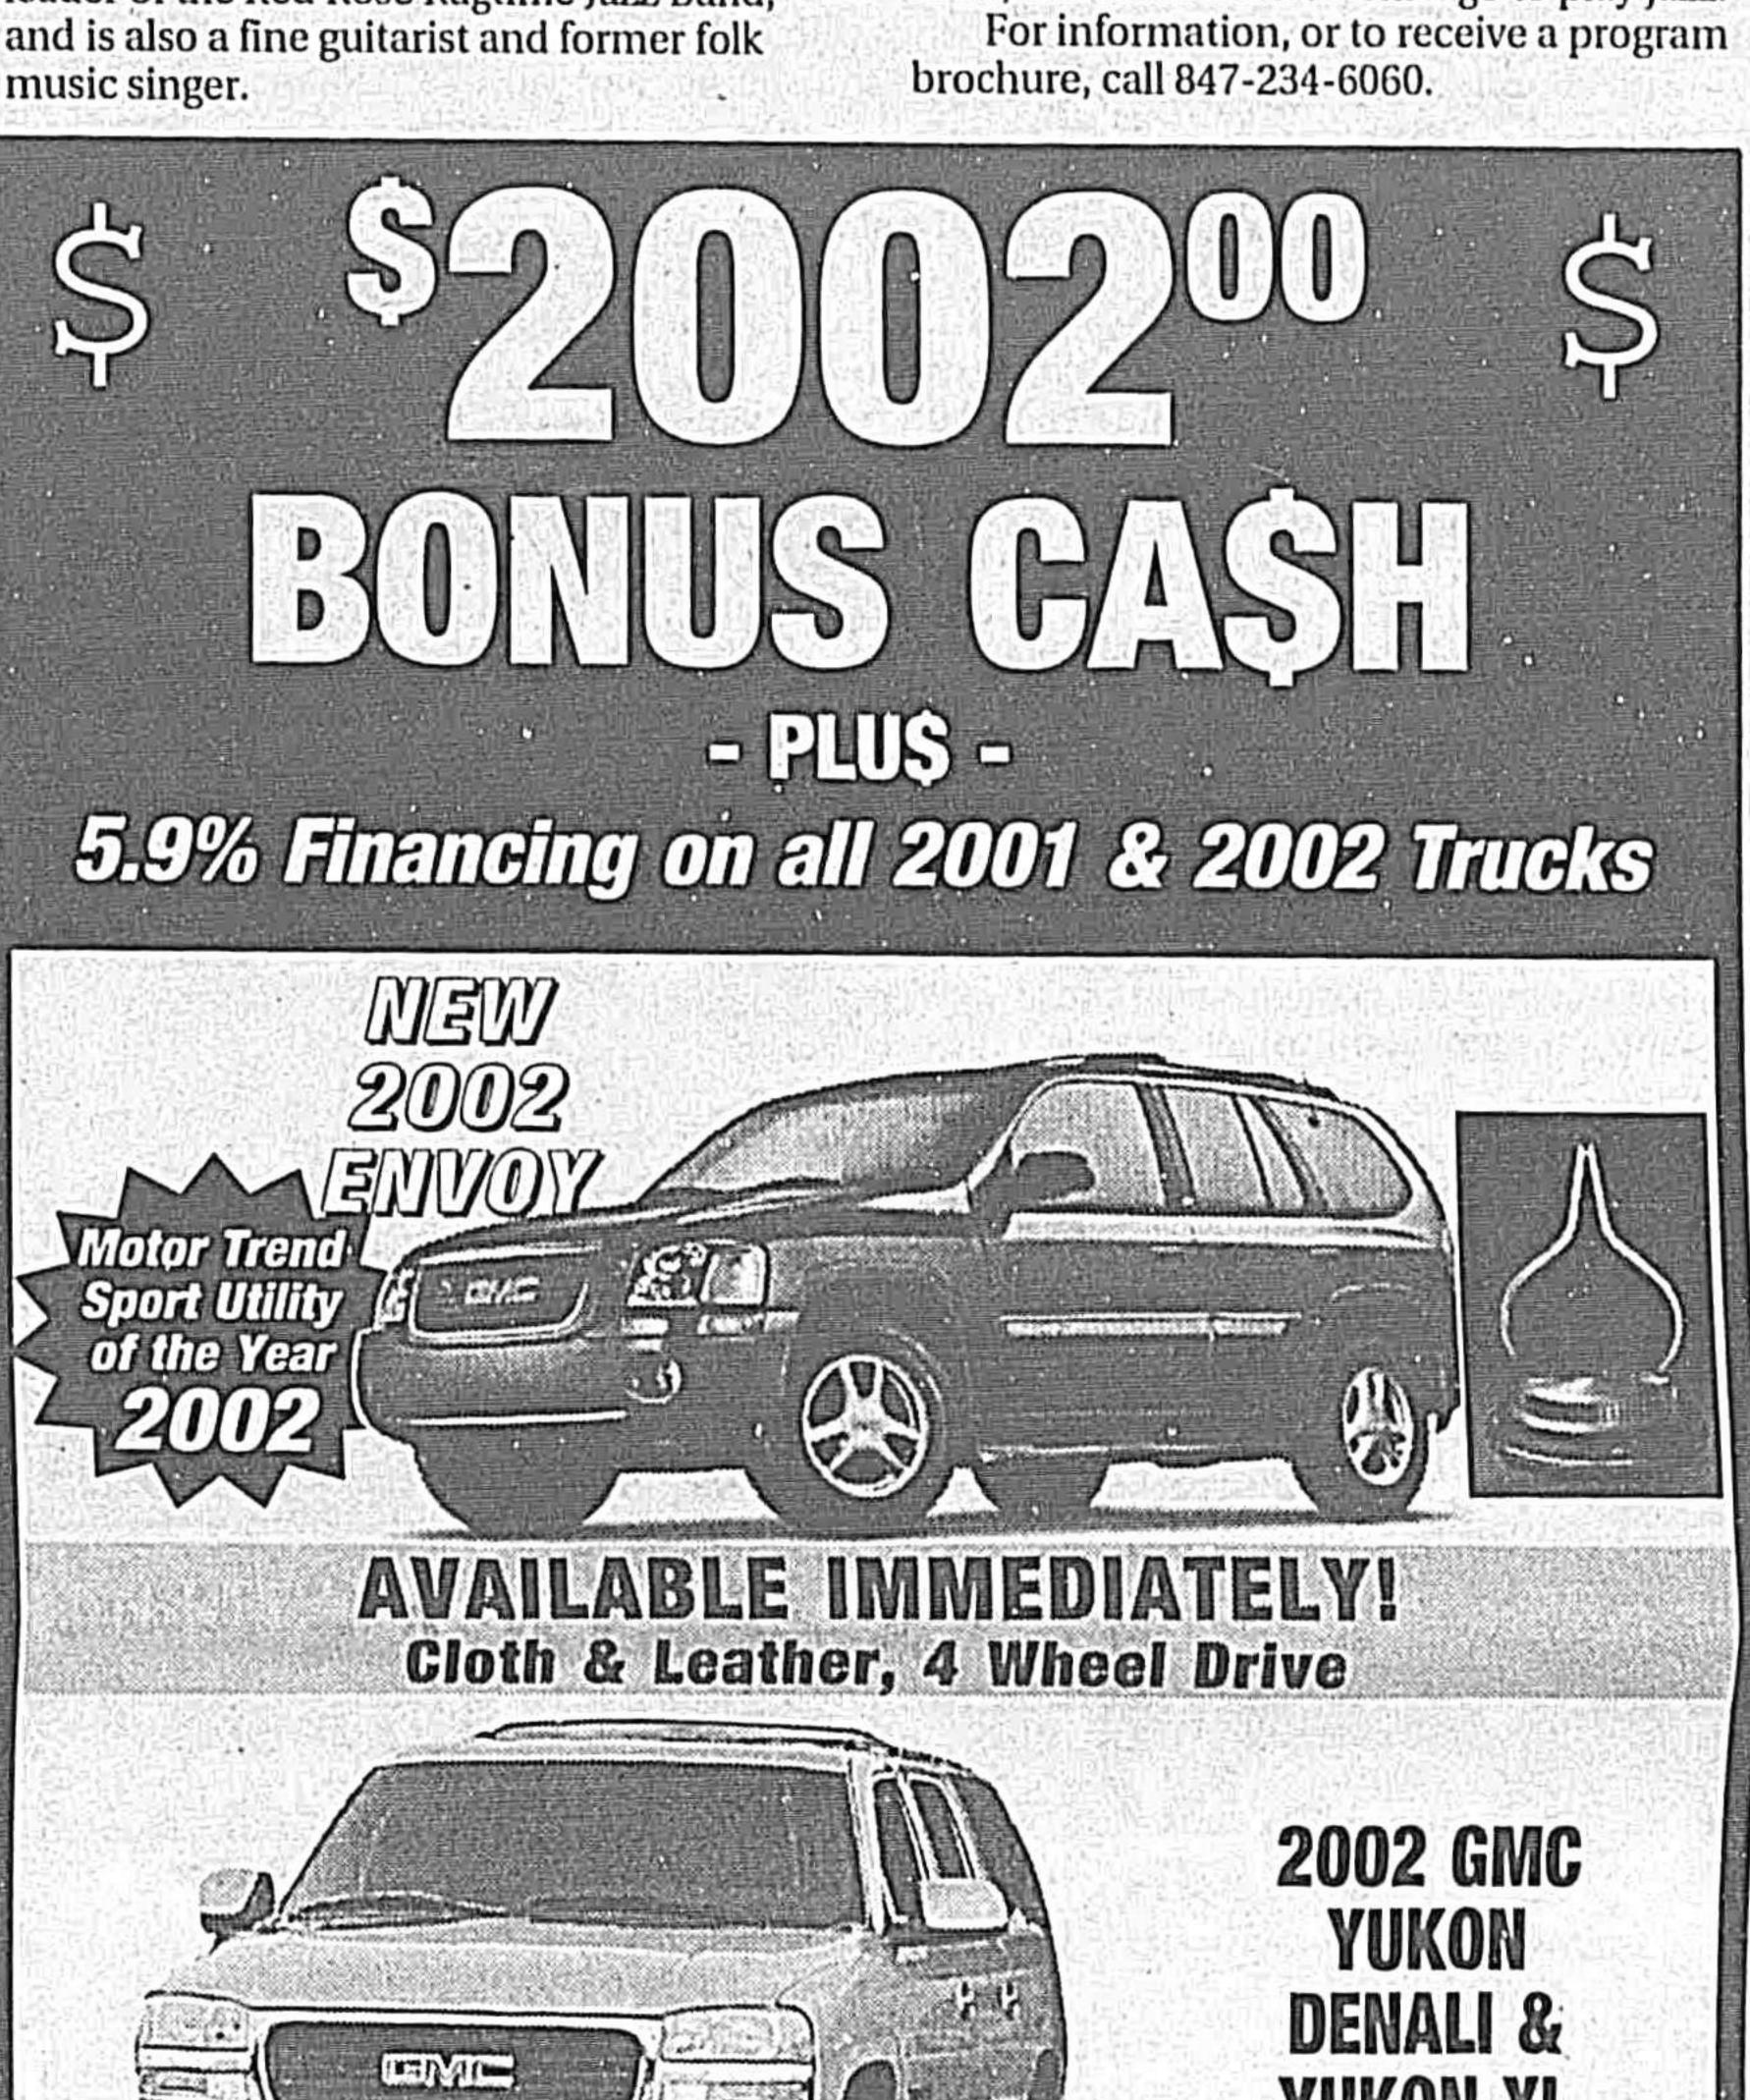

The series opens on Feb. 10, spotlighting long-time jazz pianist Joan Reynolds. She is leader of the Red Rose Ragtime Jazz Band, and is also a fine guitarist and former folk Vocalist Jackie Allen will be featured on Feb.17. Grammy nominee Kurt Elling describes her as, "A great new vocal soundforward looking, smart, sexy, ethereal." Jackie grew up surrounded by music.

Joan Hickey will be performing on Feb. 24. She had been recording and leading her own groups since 1980. Her latest CD, "Soulmates," was nominated for Best Jazz CD at the Chicago Music Awards.

Patti Lupo is the genius behind "Blue Skies," an exciting vocal group whose fourpart harmonies are a national sensation. She will perform on March 3.

The up-and-coming legend Patricia Barber will close the series with two concerts on March 10. Barber was born in Chicago, and after graduating from the University of Iowa, she came back to Chicago to play jazz.

'Kung Pow' delivers knock out to the right viewer

ung Pow! Enter the Fist" is a movie that viewers will either love or hate, and I have to confess having a really good time watching this silly spoof of all the old martial arts movies made on a tight budget with lousy dubbing.

In fact, the movie borrows footage from a 1976 film, "Tiger and Crane Fists," that likely had its own original poorly dubbed soundtrack.

Steve Oedekerk, the film's writer, director and lead actor, dubs in new dialog while adding a couple of characters to the original film to tell the story of a heroic figure out to avenge the death of his parents at the hands of the evil and legendary Master Pain.

Much of the humor is adolescent and somewhat crude. The movie is rated PG-13 for good reason.

Some of the other humor may go over the heads of younger audience members who were never subjected to some of the pre-1980s martial arts movies.

My daughter didn't understand why it was funny that the dog could be seen barking but not heard for a good 60 seconds, while I got a good chuckle out of it. She also thought it was just downright strange to have an Asian person's voice dubbed by someone with a deep southern accent from the United States.

In the story, the "Chosen One" (Oedekerk) goes about his business of first finding-out (against whom he is to take vengeance,) and once that task is completed, finding him. Throughout his travels there are nonsensical conversations and odd product placements somewhat reminiscent of Monty Python though probably not as universally

The fight scene with the cow, from the movie's trailer, is certainly one of the highlights. Thankfully, the commercial was put together without using the entire fight so there is still a surprise or two left for the theater.

Director Steve Oedekerk

Starring Steve Oedekerk

Among the many unexplained and goofy aspects of this movie are the kindly Master Tang, who is somewhat less than masterful and his daughter, who is an accomplished martial artist despite her unusual anatomy. This pair helps Chosen One throughout his quest.

One of the funniest scenes uses the old film almost entirely. It has to do with two ventriloquists who are walking through town, but I won't spoil the scene for those who might go see this movie. Maybe those who would otherwise completely write off the movie can be enticed to watch it when it comes out on cable.

In terms of acting, there isn't too much that is actually new footage.

Oedekerk has a body type that makes him believable as a martial artist, but mostly he flashes a big toothy grin as his big show of talent. While this movie may have provided him with a great opportunity to show off the work he's done in the gym, who knows what he was thinking with the hair— I found his hairdo to be the most distracting part of the movie.

When making the decision about whether or not to see this movie, keep in mind that Oedekerk is also responsible for the movie "Ace Ventura 2." If that causes the hair on the back of the neck to stand on end, this movie probably isn't a good choice.

For those who have seen a number of older martial arts movies and, on occasion, like slapstick humor, this movie may provide a good time.

CLC women fall to 5-2 in Skyway

After beginning the season 1-6, the College of Lake County women's basketball team has gone 10-7 and found themselves with an 11-13 overall record, including a second-place 5-2 mark in the Skyway Conference.

After defeating Kishwaukee College 61-54, the women were defeated by Morton College 70-63.

One of the main reasons for the Lancers success this season has been the play of freshman forward Chanel Jones. Currently, Jones leads the team in points, rebounds, and assists, and has been the cornerstone to their strong second half.

"She (Jones) has done an exceptionally good job for us," said head coach Bill Braman. "She's a very good ballplayer. She is leading us in assists, that's how you can tell she's truly a team player, she's got an all around solid game.

One factor that may have hindered the team earlier is now corrected—injuries. Both Cary Hagi and Stephanie Cripps were injured mid way through the season and have returned just recently.

'Everyone is healthy," said Braman. "We have everyone back and everyone is contributing, it's a ten person effort."

That 10-person effort has put CLC in the running for a conference title. After finishing last season with a single digit win total, this years Lady lancers is looking ahead to bigger things.

On Feb. 17, coaches and officials will get together to determine playoff seeding for this season's playoffs. The CLC regional features 11 teams, many of which have been ranked as top teams in the state and country.

Both CLC men and women's teams will host McHenry in Skyway action Feb. 12. The women's game tips-off at 5:15 p.m. while the men will follow at 7.—Joe Pruski the winning 400 freestyle relay team at the Beloit Invitational over the weekend. The team's time was 4:09.92. Illing, who also holds or shares season-best times in seven different events, also won the 1650 freestyle in 20:58.21. Loras College (Dubuque, Iowa)

Mundelein native Mike McMahon will start his junior season as a pitcher on the Loras baseball team. McMahon is a graduate of Carmel High School. Loras compete in the Iowa Intercollegiate Conference. University of Kentucky

Freshman Ashley Myers, a former Grayslake graduate, has been elected captain of the Wildcat Equestrian Hunt Feat Team for the 2002-03 season.

Myers is currently in third place in the region. She is also leading in points for equitation, which includes the rider's ability on the horse. In the Hunter division, the horses are only judged.

Kentucky competes in the Intercollegiate Southeast Conference.

Bulls scholarships available

The Chicago Bulls and CharitaBulls, the Bulls' charity foundation, will award four $2,000 scholarships to graduating high school seniors who plan to begin college in the summer or fall of 2002.

In honor of former Bulls' star John Paxson, one of the scholarships will be designated as the John Paxson Scholarship Award. The scholarships can be used at any accredited four-year college, two-year junior college or community college.

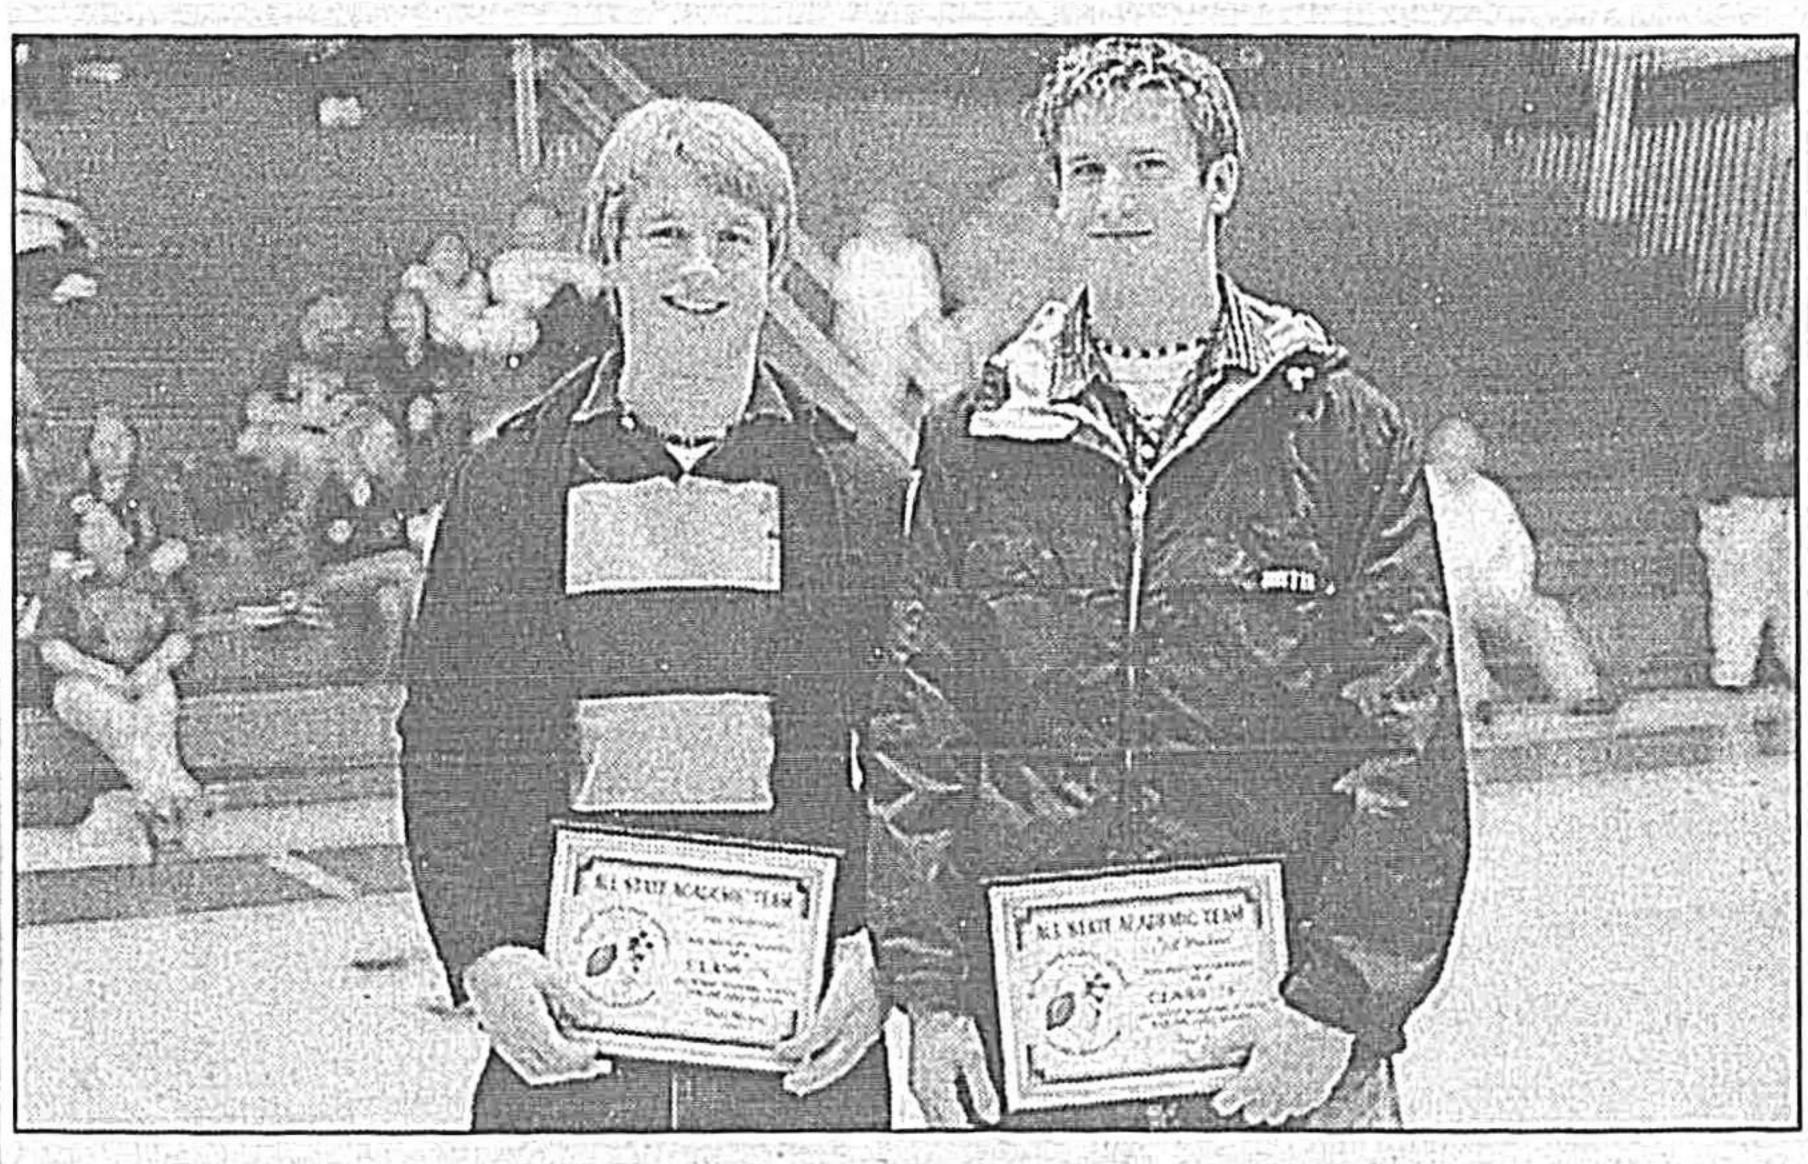

In order to apply for a CharitaBulls Scholarship, seniors must live in Cook, Lake, DuPage, Will or McHenry County, submit an official application form, a transcript and a 500-word essay commenting on the following: The events of Sept. 11, 2001 will forever change people's views of living in the United States. What does it mean to you to live in the United States? How have the events of Sept.

11, affected your life? Based on your views of these questions, how will you use your college education to positively impact society?

The scholarships will be awarded based on the applicant's academic and extracurricular achievements, along with the contents of the essay. Neither race, sex, nor financial status will be factors in determining the winners.

Applications must be postmarked no later than March 1, 2002, and the scholarship winners will be notified by March 15, 2002. The winners will be recognized during half-time of the April 5 Bulls game with the Toronto Raptors.

Scholarship applications and information have been mailed to high school guidance counselors in the five-county northern Illinois area. Applications are also available by writing to the Bulls at: CharitaBulls Scholarship Program, Chicago Bulls, 1901 W. Madison, Chicago, IL 60612, or by calling 312-455-4000.

Drew successor vote planned for Feb. 6

Drew

By DENYS BUCKSTEN County Editor

The Waukegan City Council was scheduled at a Feb. 6 board meeting to elect a successor to Mayor Dan Drew, who died of a heart attack in the early morning hours of Jan. 30.

The election would take place in executive session.

Mr. Drew, a Catholic, was an active member of St. Anastasia Church in Waukegan, where funeral services on Monday drew an estimated 5,000 visitors.

At press time the outcome of the election was not known. The 8member council, by ordinance, would elect a successor, who would serve as mayor for the next 16 months, until the next aldermanic election. Five votes would be needed to elect.

The mayor would be paid $92,000 annually. In Waukegan, mayoral elections are staggered by two years, between aldermanic elections, hopefully to ensure stability in city government. Under the successor provision, the man or woman elected Wednesday night would have 16 months to establish him or herself, and after two years, could run against newcomers for a two-year term.

The end of the two-year period, in the spring of 2005, would mark the final year of the four-year term that Mr. Drew was elected to in April 2001.

In 2005, if the person elected this week is still mayor, he or she could decide to face challengers for a normal, 4-year term.

Waukegan 3rd Ward Ald. John Rickerd, a Republican with 12 years on the council, said the balance of power in the council, five Democrats and three Republicans, would likely decide Drew's successor.

That could mean that long-time Democrat council members, including 8th Ward Ald. Richard Hyde, and 6th Ward Ald. Larry TenPas, were frontrunners going into the Wednesday night council meeting elec-

> Reports from city officials are that Mr. Drew, a diabetic, went into cardiac arrest at home early that morning and Waukegan Fire Department paramedics were called to the home, but were unable to resuscitate him.

Paramedics rushed Mr. Drew to Victory Memorial Hospital in Waukegan at 4:20 a.m., where he was pronounced dead about an

Mr. Drew's service to the City of Waukegan spanned 23 years. He was city collector from 1979 to 1985; and city treasurer from 1993 to 2001. He defeated Newton Finn for mayor, by a scant six votes, in the November 2000 general election.

Prior to his becoming a public servant, Mr. Drew owned a business, Dan Drew Oil Company, and later served as customer service manager for Olson Oil Company in Waukegan.

Wood knows county problems -

By ROB MOLL Staff Reporter

Lt. Governor Corinne Wood spoke to committee members to gather support for her campaign to win the Republican nomination for governor.

State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis introduced Wood a crowded room at the Country Squire Banquet Hall in Grayslake. Geo-Karis praised Wood for her decisiveness, her belief in less government and her pro-choice stand on the abortion issue.

Wood said she understands Lake County's problems because she lives in the county. "Even though as Lieutenant Governor, I represent all of Illinois, my heart is in Lake County," she said.

Warning that the Republican party might remain in the hands of a powerful few, Wood said that now is the first time in 30 years that the party would have the chance to open up to women, minorities and tolerance.

Because of the redrawn district maps, Wood said Democrats will control the state house and senate and the only thing standing in the way of tax increases and spending is the governor.

"I'm not your typical politician," she said. Wood claimed she could take family values to Springfield and that she would work for healthcare for women, jobs and education.

Claiming that being Lieutenant Governor gave her the experience to act quickly to solve Illinois' many financial problems. Wood promised that 51 percent of all new revenue would go to school funding. She said that she would work on a school construction bond plan that would help Lake County deal with its "tremendous growth."

Conservationist, widow of printing icon, was 92

By DENYS BUCKSTEN County Editor

Dorothy Ranney Donnelley, a native of Lake Forest, widow of printing magnate Gaylord Donnelley, and a friend of conservation, died in her sleep on Sunday in the family's Libertyville home.

Mrs. Donnelley was 92.

hearts were married in 1935.

Mrs. Donnelley was born Jan. 25, 1910 in Chicago, was raised Dorothy Ranney in Lake Forest , and lived in Libertyville since 1946. She met Gaylord Donnelley when both were very young, and the childhood sweet-

Mr. Donnelley, a president of R.R. Donnelley & Sons printing, died on April 19,

Mrs. Donnelley was a member of First Presbyterian and a member of the board of directors of the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago.

As a girl growing up in Lake Forest, Mrs. Donnelley's love of the outdoors and concern for conservation were interests that formed a personal bond with young Gaylord Donnelley, who later attended Yale University, graduating in 1931.

Mr. Donnelley, in addition to becoming an astute businessman, directed his conservation efforts toward research and education, through such entities as the Yale Institute for Biospheric Studies.

Mrs. Donnelley is survived by three children, Elliot R. Donnelley of Palm Beach, Fl.; Strachan (Vivian) Donnelley of New York City, N.Y.; Laura (John) Donnelley-Morton of Los Angeles, Ca.; 11 grandchildren; two great grandchildren; and her brother, George A. Ranney, Sr., of Libertyville.

Mrs. Donnelley was preceded in death by her parents, George and Cornelia Ranney, and her husband.

Arrangements were made by Burnett-Dane Funeral Home in Libertyville. A private, family funeral service was planned for Feb. 7 at First Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Dr. R. Bruce Meyer officiating. Mrs. Donnelley was interred at Lake Forest Cemetery.

It should be a winter to remember for Steven Lee.

The Lake Forest resident and native of Taiwan will be competing for his country in the four-man bobsledding competition at the 2002 Winter Olympics, which get underway with Opening Ceremonies Feb. 8.

Lee, 33, the senior vice-president of investments at First Union Security in Deerfield, has been bobsledding since 1996.

"Taiwan has been to four Olympics," said Lee. "But this is my first time competing in the Games. I think our best finish in the past has been 28th out of 35."

Lee's team barely qualified for the Olympics.

"You can qualify based on points you get from your finishes at the World, European and American Cup events," said Lee. "Most people use the European Cup as a base point. You had to have 30 points to make and we had 32."

And the chances look good that the team will top that this winter. "The key is to have, of course, a good sled," said Lee. "Then you need a good push on the track, a good runner and a good driver." As far as physical training, Lee usually works out at his local health club. His team usually ventures to Monoco, near France, over Labor Day weekend. "They have a competition there because of a good dry push track," he said. "Plus, it's Prince Albert's event and he's a fellow bobsledder as well."

The team also travels to Innsbruck, Austria once a year for training.

Lee's team consists of Sam Hwang of Skokie, Ming Lin of Taiwan and Chen A-li, the team's pilot and coach.

Lee, who has lived in the U.S. for over 20 years, is a graduate of St. Joseph High School in Westchester. He also earned his BA in economics from St. Jose State University.

Voter registration cards coming

The March 19 election is quickly approaching, and beginning the first week of February, county voters should watch for their new voter identification cards arriving in the mail. The card has been updated with new information and a new look of patriotic red, white and blue to replace the ones previously printed on blue card stock.

The card will reflect any changes as a result of the 2001 redistricting process and lists voter polling place locations for the March 19 election. County Clerk Willard Helander advises every voter to review the card carefully as all voters will have new precinct numbers and their polling place may be different.

Beginning this month, voters can visit the clerk's web site www.co.lake.il.us/cntyclk to find a photo, map and directions to all polling places in Lake County for 2002. Voters may also contact the clerk's office at 847-377-2410 for assistance in locating a polling place or for any information regarding the upcoming election.

Home Expo Feb. 16

The excitement is building for the largest home show in Lake County, which will be held on the weekend of Feb. 16-17 at the Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake.

Last year the Home and Outdoor Living Expo drew an estimated 10,000 attendees and featured over 150 exhibitors at the fairgrounds, at Routes 45 and 120. This year the show promises to be even bigger. To date, more than 175 exhibitors are listed, enough to fill two whole buildings at the fairgrounds.

The show will feature a wide variety of products and services, including maid services, spas, saunas, gazebos, sun rooms, solar lights, security systems, waterproofing, landscape nurseries, flooring and carpeting, water systems, wireless communications, builders, banks and lenders.

Exhibitors will include well-established local businesses, as well as those from Milwaukee, Rockford and the Chicago area. The show is produced by Homestar Productions and co-sponsored by Lakeland Media.

The hours of the show are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $3 for adults and children are free.

Need to modify assessing rules—NOW

he problem with the current highly computerized, "scientific" system of property assessing is that while computers can "think" (perform logical functions), they don't have any common sense.

Illinois has spent years depersonalizing the property assessment system on which the system of levying real estate taxes is based. For good reason. The old, pre-computer system, was fraught with inequities and favoritism. Old-time assessors weren't above taking care of their friends and supporters and "sticking it" to political enemies. Today's assessors are professionals, trained and retrained in the assessing process, monitored and directed by the state and the county supervisor of assessments. Coupling assessing professionals with impartial computers has produced a "fair" system. Or is it?

Certainly not for Lake County homeowners who have experienced wildly escalating assessments, some up to 300 percent. Complaints are rampant over a "flawed" system. Not really. The system is working to perfection. If anything, flaws lie in the precepts and principals laid down by human beings who designed the system, enacting the laws under which real estate assessing in Illinois operates.

One problem, as we see it, is that the system relies too heavily on "comps"—comparative market prices—to determine valuations. Assessing is mandated to reflect values. In neighborhoods or communities where there is little sales activity, values tend to remain static. Where there is lots of sales activity, like many areas of Lake County where the same parcel can change hands every two years or so, assessing levels reflect the new values imposed by "activity." Boom times have driven up values—and taxes—enormously. In the process, seniors are experiencing real estate tax increases that literally are driving them out of their homes. What is frustrating, especially to citizens who have no intention of moving or remodeling, are so-called "speculative" assessments, valuations based on potential tear-downs where perfectly livable homes are purchased at going rates by wealthy buyers who tear them down to build larger, more expensive homes. Real estate values escalate quickly when computers factor in new market data never foreseen when existing systems were designed.

When the human element was involved in assessing, allowances could be made for the "humane factors" that exist today. But not any more.

What is needed in Lake County is some sort of "freeze" on valuations like that enacted in California years ago to protect seniors and residents who have no intention of moving. Cook County has enacted property tax relief for longtime homeowners in areas experiencing gentrification where sales volatility skyrockets taxes.

County Board Rep. Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake), chairman of the Building, Zoning and Planning Committee, is advocating state legislation to correct antiquated assessing laws. All well and good, but that might take too long. Lake County needs to follow Cook County's HELP program—Homeowner Exemption for Long-term Properties.

Money-hungry taxing bodies won't like tax relief measures imposed by frozen assessments or HELP plans. But a system that drives people out of their homes can't be tolerated. That's a big-time flaw that has to be corrected in a hurry.

Hard to increase: education tax rate

onsider yourself fortunate if you reside in a community where there will not be a tax referendum question on the ballot March 19. All in all, in our locality, there are 13 districts asking for education fund rate increases. In Lake County, all public schools never have enough money, even wealthy districts. So, you might be on the list next time.

Because education rate questions are complicated and difficult to explain, school officials are reluctant to go to the taxpayers and ask for more money. Really. Residents of Antioch and Grayslake high school districts have to go back to the 1980s, for example, the last time the education rate which covers all non-brick and mortar expenditures was increased.

In this day and age, it's a wonder an educational rate ever gets raised. There's only one reason why people vote to hike the educational rate in their local school district—improve education. On the other hand, there are a variety of reasons to vote no—aversion to higher taxes, opposition to school policies, registering opposition to cost of public education, dislike of school officials or teachers, satisfaction with status quo.

Things are kind of lop-sided, aren't they?

VIEWPOINT

DWD overtaking DUI as driving scourge

ou won't like to hear this if you're guilty of DWD.

More and more safety experts and law enforcement specialists are coming to believe that driving while being distracted DWD can have the same effect as driving drunk.

Driving distractions are to blame for about 4,300 crashes every day on U.S. roads, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Lake County gets its share of those collisions.

"Driving with distractions has the potential to become the drunk driving issue of the new millennium," stated Doug Sommer, safety education specialist for Country Insurance & Financial Services headquartered in Bloomington, with a network of dealers in Lake County.

DWD is past the laughing stage. Reading, eating, putting on makeup, talking on a cell phone, fussing with the kids or searching for a CD are dangerous combinations with a steering wheel in one hand only.

At the rate driving while distracted incidents are piling up, DWD is well on the way to becoming a new police statistic.

the Bears, the Lake County contingent, didn't have to travel far for off-season R and R. Quarterback Jim Miller and James Allen are at home in Vernon Hills. James "Big Cat" Williams and Marcus Robinson practically are within walking distance at their Lake Forest homes. Other Lake County Bears include Brian Urlacher, Gurnee; Tony Parrish, Lake Bluff; Chris Villareal, Libertyville, and Marty Booker and Roosevelt Colvin, both Waukegan residents.

Setting standards

Midway Airport users have good things to say about airport security, convenience and comfort at Chicago's "second" terminal. Everything is clean and modern at the new gate system on the east side of Cicero. And security procedures are setting standards for the nation. We know of a couple who had their ID checked five times before boarding. As far as they are concerned, Midway is first.

Wendy talks baseball

Baseball fans among attendees at the Lake Forest College, A.B. Dick Lecture on Entrepreneurship series had a treat Wednesday night. They heard Wendy Selig-Prieb, president and CEO of the Milwaukee Brewers, talk about the challenges and opportunities in major league baseball. Personable and articulate, Selig-Prieb is the highest ranking female executive in major league baseball. The audience was especially intrigued by the variety of ticket prices available at Miller Park The Brewers already have sold out field boxes. Infield boxes for the season (83 games) are available at $2,905 each. A bleacher seat for every home game can be purchased for $830. Selig-Prieb admitted that a day at the "old ball park" has gotten pretty pricey for family entertainment, although bleacher seats can still be obtained for $10 a pop. Opening day, by the way, is Friday, April 5, vs. the world champion Arizona Diamond Backs.

Road kill info

Under new procedures, motorists no longer are required to report road killed deer to authorities if you intend to keep the kill for meat processing. If you're interested in taxidermy or tanning, you're required to report location, date and gender to law enforcement officials to obtain a tag. Even in an urban area, road kill is a problem. Maybe even moreso.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

What's at stake in tax vote

n March 19, voters across the state of Illinois will exercise their right to determine which candidates will be on the ballot for a variety of local, county, and state offices in the general election in November.

Within the Village of Grayslake and several of its surrounding communities, such as Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, and Round Lake Beach, voters also will have the opportunity to determine the future for the students within Grayslake Community High School (GCHS) District 127. In particular, voters will be asked to support an education fund increase in order to maintain comprehensive and adequate programs for its high school students, and to fund the construction of a second high school building on land previously purchased by District 127.

The growth in student enrollment that has impacted Grayslake community elementary school districts for many years has impacted GCHS as well. In the past 10 years, enrollment at GCHS has grown from about 800 students to over 1,800 students. Yet, GCHS has been both fiscally responsible and creative in how it has responded to such growth. In fact, the last education fund increase for GCHS was in 1985ó17 years ago. During this same period of time, there has only been one building bond approved, which funded 30 new classrooms and labs, and allowed for the purchase of land for a second campus. Earlier additions to GCHS in the mid-to-late 1990s were funded primarily by certificates of participation and did not include a tax rate increase.

Despite these efforts, student enrollment at the GCHS Lake Street campus will soon be beyond capacity, and further building additions are not possible. In addition, the ac-

Sindles, Sullivan to air views at City Club

Hopes this time to be charm for

victory.

undelein Mayor Marilyn Sindles and Fremont Township Assessor Ed Sullivan are crossing the county Tuesday, Feb. 12, to debate their contest for a state representative nomination.

They'll air their views before members of the Waukegan City Club, which has a tradition of sponsoring face-to-face combat between contestants in heated political campaigns.

Sindles and Sullivan are in a tight race for the GOP nomination in the new 51st District stretching from Libertyville through Mundelein to Lake Zurich.

The Waukegan encounter may be the only time the two Republicans share the same podium in the campaign that ends with the March 19 primary. City Club meets at the Waukegan Yacht Club beginning with dinner at 6:30 p.m.

One of the tightest races for a county board nomination is shaping up in reliably Democratic Highland Park.

With a seat open in District 23 due to long-time Democrat Rep. Robert "Bob" Buhai's retirement, competition between Arlene Demb, a long-time party activist, and Anne Flanigan Bassi, a Certified Public accountant and a tax specialist, is getting tense.

Demb's background includes an unsuccessful bid for county-wide office and experience in public sector jobs. Bassi's strategy is to give voters a "new look," although she is well known through board of education service and membership and past presidency of the Highland Park League of Women Voters. Bassi also is current budget chair of the Illinois League of Women Voters.

North Shore political observers rate the Demb-Bassi battle a toss-up. Unopposed Peter J. Koukos in the Republican primary is rated no chance in November. Koukos is a Highland Park councilman.

Tending to business

With no primary competition, Sheriff

Gary Del Re is concentrating on law enforcement these days. There will be time after March 19 to gear up for the November general election. Del Re hopes his record of achievement will spell wider margins than four years ago when he defeated Willie Rae Smith in the Republican primary with 61 percent of the vote and Democrat Marlene Runyard with 60 percent. In the November general election.

Youth be served

Cassie Day, age 12, not only attended a Wauconda Zoning Board of Appeals meeting, but she contributed, asking zoners question about a proposed housing development.

Economy measure

Volo Plan Commission members were still smarting after the Jan. 12 meeting was cancelled when the power plant referendum was filed. Betty Wertke, chairman, said she made the decision to postpone the meeting to April 6 at the request of Volo Energy Center LLC. There were questions if the fledgling Geneva-based firm did not want to pay its high-priced consultants for a meeting which could sink the proposal.

New territory

County Board Rep. Steve Mountsier (R-Lake Barrington), the "quiet man," is speaking up these days as he campaigns in new territory. Through redistricting, Mountsier has picked up a chunk of Island Lake as the southwest District 17 expands. Rep. Bonnie Thomson Carter, who formerly represented the district, said Mountsier should like the new territory. "Solidly Republican. I had good support," remarked Carter.

Toes tapping

Nancy Faust, organist for the White Sox, had toes tapping Thursday night when she entertained at a cocktail fund-raiser for Ed Sullivan Jr. at the Country Squire. Sullivan is seeking the Republican nomination for state representative from the new 51st District, including Ela Township (Lake Zurich), Fremont Township (Mundelein) and the Libertyville Township west of St. Mary's Road.

Call the Peace Corps

Marathon meetings and rancorous exchanges between trustees and citizens are more the rule these days than the exception at Ela Township meetings. Supervisor Kim Tinerella may have to start wearing a striped shirt to referee meetings—or a bullet-proof vest. Trustee David Knudtson is earning a "pit bull" reputation for heated exchanges with citizens.

Valentines not all warm fuzzies

t's time to shop for the perfect valentines for those we love: our spouse, children, grandchildren, cats and dogs (from our dog to your dog).

So far, I like these verses on greeting cards
I've seen:

"Cupid shot an arrow into the air and it landed in my leg—Now my leg loves you." "I love you so much I can't sleep, I can't eat

"I love you so much I can't sleep, I can't eat, I can't concentrate— Okay, okay, so I can eat."

"Ours is a strange and wonderful relationship—You're strange and I'm wonderful."

Valentine's Day has been with us for centuries, at least since the 1300s when English poet Geoffrey Chaucer noted that in the middle of February birds begin to pair off and choose their mates.

Back then, Valentine was one of the most popular saints in England and France. The holiday has grown to humongous proportions. The greeting card industry prints millions of valentines each year. Plus, collectively, we spend a fortune on gifts, flowers, candy, teddy bears and romantic dinners.

Through the years, as we allegedly became more sophisticated, mirth has replaced some of the mush in greeting cards. Now we get cutesy verses like the ones I quoted above.

Everybody wants to be a comedian.

Also, in tune with the times, card sellers
Hallmark and American Greetings have web sites that allow us to shop for valentines on line from our living rooms.

Via e-mail, we can select and send cards complete with voice, animation and music. I am surprised and saddened, however, to see cynicism replacing some of the dear old-fashioned sentiment. American Greetings, for example, has an "Anti-Valentine's Day" department in which less-than-classy verses are offered. Such as these:

"Valentine's Day sucks."

"Cupid makes me want to hurl. Other than that, have a happy day."

"I hate Valentine's Day, and I wanna beat the crap out of that Cupid guy."

(I quote such negativism only because it is my journalistic troth to report on the current state of our culture):

Some people want to be Don Rickles.

I think it's safe to say most folks prefer valentine verses such as these:

"Valentine, I thought of you today and suddenly felt a deep, warm throbbing in my loins. And then I realized I was spilling coffee into my lap."

"Sex, sex, sex. Is that all you ever think about— and, if so, will you be my valentine?"

It has been observed that love doesn't make the world go 'round, but it makes the ride worthwhile.

Another old saying is that love is being stupid together. (Been there and done that?)

celerated growth in the high school student population has resulted in a declining equalized assessed valuation (EAV) per student, meaning that the District 127 education fund balance will go negative shortly.

To voters with students already at GCHS, passage of the referenda on March 19 will prevent further increases in class size, reductions in course offerings, loss of quality teachers, and possible elimination of athletic, music, and theater programs. To voters with intermediate and middle student students, passage will ensure there is room for your students at GCHS, which will be approximately 150, 300, and 450 students over capacity, respectively, when the current fifth, sixth and seventh grade classes reach high school. To voters with pre-school and elementary school students, passage will ensure a strong future for your future high school students, and will send the right message to a community that has consistently supported numerous elementary school referenda over the years. Finally, to those voters without children, or to those with children who already have graduated from GCHS, passage will contribute to retaining both strong home values and a sense of community pride.

Vote YES on March 19. The current and future students of Grayslake Community High School deserve nothing less.

Need state help

I read the article on Governor Ryan changing his mind and not closing the school for the disabled. The article stated the State would have saved $2.3 million this year and $6.5 million next year. I don"t know if this takes into account the cost of their education at another school or not. There are 45 students at the school which equates to almost $100,000 per student per year.

Our school district has 6,000 students, a $40 million budget and is almost bankrupt. An additional $4.4 million per year would be an 11 percent increase in our budget and allow us to give a more quality education to each of the 6,000 students. I hope Governor Ryan and the State Legislature take this into account as they consider a Finance Authority for Unit District 116 and decide the future of our children is worth investing more state money.

Win the peace

We, the American armed forces, capture war prisoners, transport them to Cuba where they suddenly become "detainees." We, the American taxpayers, finance the bombing of Afghanistan with billions of dollars, and now we finance a grup of our "diplomats" to go to Japan to attend meetings where the discussions revolve around how much more money we can contribute to rebyuild Afghanistan.

When Colin Powell announces to the world that all Americans are behind the planned rebuilding of Afghanistan, he should ask a few of us. If he thinks that sending money, food, and social workers to Afghanistan will make us the darlings of the Muslim world, he is sadly mistaken.

It's time that Powell, Bush, Rumsfeld, et all, realize that they are not candidates for the Nobel Peace Prize or some other humanitarian award. For once, let's see if we can win both the war and the peace:

'Non-paying' residents

There is a nugget of data in the report of the American Farmland Trust to the Lake County Board on the future of agriculture in Lake County worthy of the attention of municipalities hell bent on annexing and developing residential property. And this data offers encouragement to advocates of open space.

In a summation of 84 studies in 18 states by 26 different organizations it shows in every study that the cost of community services exceeded tax revenue from residential development. The range of the ratio of costs to revenue ran all the way from 1.02 to 1.00 to 2.11. The average ratio is 1.2 to 1.00. Proof positive that residential development does not pay its own way.

For those distressed by these facts there is an opportunity to do something about them by voting for open space in Fremont township March 19.

Up to females

Patrick O'Malley represents the best aspects of the Republican Party. While his opponents supported George Ryan's questionable conduct, O'Malley challenged it. O'Malley, as part of a group of reform state senators known as "Fab Five," pushed for honest accounting of the state budget, for competitive bidding for gambling licenses, and for less spending and lower taxes.

O'Malley is the only candidate for Governor to openly challenge George Ryan's tax increases. The future of Illinois is in the hands of female voters. Either we support the old ways of George Ryan found in the other two candidates for Governor, or we break with the past and vote for Patrick O'Malley.

Not divorced

In order to set the record straight regarding the Dec. 21-27, 2001 article entitled "Veteran Churchill signs on for 62nd House District run," I would like to clarify a few points.

First, the article stated that Mr. Churchill "is recently divorced." The truth is that he is still quite married and I should know because I'm the one married to him. We've been married for 16 1/2 years and still reside in the same house with our three daughters, even though we have an ongoing and contentious divorce pending since May, 2001. I am his second wife; his first marriage ended in divorce in the early 1980s.

House Representatives because he chose to run for Secretary of State in the march 1998
Republican primary. He lost that election to Al Salvi. Mr. Churchill was appointed to the Prisoner Review Board in July, 1999. He left that position in January, 2001 to work as the chief general counsel for the Illinois House Republicans and his contract for that position ends the end of January, 2002.

Sandra B. Churchill

Editor's note: We stand corrected on Robert Churchill's marital status. The incorrect information in the news report cannot be attributed to candidate Churchill. The inaccuracy is regretted.

Trashing beauty

Mayor James Eschenbach of Wauconda is a very powerful man. Give him credit. He didn't like the old Comprehensive Plan; couldn't get what he wanted for the land speculators. He pointed his finger and found someone who'd give him all and with the right spin, pretend it is the best for the beleaguered citizens of Wauconda.

Get the big picture? The two land speculators north of town want to flood the land with urban sprawl. Enter the outsider planning person to set the course Wauconda should take in a new comprehensive plan, and their cups runneth over. Oh, the smell of money. Make no mistake, Mr. Eschenbach and company are running the show. All the sweet talk and doubletalk and old boy politics aside. They are working to change Wauconda forever from a friendly, comfortable, safe community to a place you wouldn't want to live in 10 years from now.

Mr. Eschenbach's pending comprehensive plan was hatched in a comfortable office in front of computers loaded with lots of awesome facts and figures to conjure up benign scenarios to impress the uninitiated and trusting souls. A plat of the area was taped on a wall for all to see and worthy of great intellect was chosen to throw the dart.

It happened to land at the corner of Garland and Gossell Roads. A shopping center is conceived. No more thought went into the planning than that. No thought. No respect. No comprehension or concern for the residents living nearby, was given the entire plan. No attempt to fit in or enhance or follow the Lake County guidelines for development.

This is how, across our nation, lovely rural villages are being swept away or trashed, in the name of progress. And it all comes down to greed—people making lots of dirty money by destroying the dreams of hard-working people, seeking a good life in the country.

But it has been shown, again and again, if citizens rise up and flex their muscles and shout loud enough and long enough, and stand together strongly, it need not be so. People with enough persistence and smarts to outlast the destructive forces can prevail.

Paying attention to feelings 1st can lead to worse behavior

Hi Dr. Singer,

I have a challenge with my 9 year old son. He misbehaves a lot, and we try our best to correct him when necessary. The problem is that his misbehavior seems to be around angry feelings a lot and I don't want to cut off his feelings by punishing him. I want the behavior to be better, but I don't want him to think he cannot express his feelings. Consequently, we don't punish very often and his behavior is getting worse. Should feelings come first or his responsibility to

A tomato a day keeps the oncologist away.

That may not be entirely true but it is true that tomatoes, along with many other foods, have been proven to have cancer fighting properties.

In fact, studies have shown that just five servings of fruits and vegetables daily can prevent as much as 20 percent of all cancers. The cancer fighting benefits of proper nutrition apply to those who have been diagnosed and treated for cancer as well.

But keeping proper nutritional habits can be very complicated, especially when challenged with the rigors of traditional cancer treatment. If you add in complications from an unhealthy liver, renal system, or diabetes, the proper roadmap for nutrition gets even a little more gray.

That is why consulting a nutritionist can be just what the doctor ordered. Your one-hour consultation is a phone call away. A Service of Concer Treatment Centers of America® AT MIDWESTERN REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER Dear V.B.,

Feelings are important, and we do need to help our kids learn to express them in a healthy way. I'm not sure that misbehaving is one of those ways. I respect your concern for not wanting to squelch your child's expression, however, I think you are falling prey to one of the most insidious forms of future killers for kids. Your child should learn to express feelings, but appropriately. If a child learns to act out every time he feels frustrated or angry, he will continue to do that throughout life with everyone he meets. No one will put up with that for long.

Most likely, this is why you are seeing the bad behavior grow. He is not experiencing anything to stop the progression towards acting out. In other words, it is more profitable for him to act out than for him not

Additionally, do not confuse anger with frustration and intolerance. The way that you or I think of anger may not be the way your child feels it. Usually, the tantrums I have seen and have heard described are about the child not getting his way. They are basically a power play to get parents scared and to back down so ultimately the desired goal is reached by the child. This has absolutely nothing to do with the real emotion of anger. Unfortunately, most parents do get scared and back down very quickly and the child learns that this is the way to get what he wants*. From that point on, the tantrums grow bigger and bigger and bigger. When most parents think that anger is the issue for their child, most kids are really feeling frustration and intolerance. Imagine the message we give to them when we give in to their frustration and intolerance. We are telling them that it's o.k. to act that way. We are also giving them the clear message that everyone will be just as quick to back down as we were.

Let's talk about how to approach this thing from a logical and appropriate standpoint. My view and what I usually recommend to parents in my office is that behavior needs to be maintained 1st and then, after the child is calm, discussion can happen about feelings. That discussion should also help the child build skills for dealing with this type of thing the next time. So, 1st, whatever behavior program that uses appropriate consequences, needs to be put in place to be used to get the behavior under control, regardless of the reason for it. After the behavior is in control, and the behavior has cost something appropriate, a discussion should happen between parent and child. The parent should reinforce and help the child understand that the goal was not attained by the tantrum. The discussion should be mostly the parent asking the child questions to bring him around to the points the parent wants to make. There is far more learning that goes on when the child has to think to answer questions than when you lecture him. It may take several times for this chain of events to occur before the child automatically picks the right decision during a time when bad behavior could occur. The next time the same situation comes up and your child begins to react the right way, you will want to congratulate your child on a good decision. If the child is not sure of what to do, you might want to help him to think of the 2 choices available to him at the time (i.e.: staying calm, getting good recognition) and getting to go on with the rest of the day without a problem or the appropriate punishment for the wrong decision.) When he makes a good decision, let him know how proud you are. If he makes the bad decision, follow up consistently and appropriately.

By doing it this way, you are teaching him that he is allowed to feel any way he wants to about things, but he is not allowed to do anything he wants with those feelings. There is a big difference between squelching behavior and squelching feelings. This is called setting limits.

Those limits will help his success level now and in his future and make his transitions in life much smoother. So, don't feel guilty about using discipline first and talking later. As long as you get to the talking part, you are being a good, responsible parent who does not want to teach the wrong connections to your child. Regarding counseling, it can be helpful in this situation. In a situation that involves a kid

Condell expands emergency department

As Condell Medical Center in Libertyville continues with its $88 million-plus expansion project; construction on the Emergency Department is underway and on schedule with a projected completion date of October 2002.

"We're really excited about the new construction and with the increasing numbers of patients we're seeing, it can't happen any too soon," said Condell Emergency Department Director Tammy Koslenko, RN.

During 2001, Condell's Emergency Department treated almost 44,000 patients — a 16 percent increase from the previous year. And that number is projected to increase steadily in the years ahead.

The completed unit will include 20 beds individually enclosed by glass walls, providing a quieter atmosphere for patients, yet still allowing nurses to monitor them visually.

"The glassed-in patient rooms will give patients and staff more privacy. Patients no longer will be disturbed by discussions among doctors and nurses, and we'll be able to provide a greater degrees of confidentiality because patients in adjacent beds won't be able to overhear conversations," said emergency physician Carol Carani, MD.

So far, steel framing is in place for a drive-thru garage area for ambulances. Located along Stewart Avenue, between the current Emergency Department entrance and the original hospital building, the structure will protect patients from inclement weather as paramedics bring them in and out of the hospital.

Subsequent phases of the project include connection of the Emergency Department to a new express elevator exclusively for Emergency Department use. The elevator will transport emergency patients to the Intensive and Critical Care Unit, surgery and other floors more quickly and conveniently. A new helicopter landing pad also will be constructed on the roof of the new elevator shaft for expeditious transport of critical patients.

Expansion and renovation of the ICCU

has begun as well, with a projected completion date of October 2002. The current ICCU will grow to 17,500 square feet - more than five times its current size.

Condell is growing for you. Serving Lake County residents, Condell Health Network includes Condell Medical Center, Condell Acute Care Centers, Centre Clubs, the innovative Condell Day Center for Intergenerational Care, Pediatric Alternatives in Creative Therapy (PACT), Condell Medical Guildings and Condell Home Health Systems.

Paying attention to feelings 1st can lead to worse behavior

Hi Dr. Singer,

I have a challenge with my 9 year old son. He misbehaves a lot, and we try our best to correct him when necessary. The problem is that his misbehavior seems to be around angry feelings a lot and I don't want to cut off his feelings by punishing him. I want the behavior to be better, but I don't want him to think he cannot express his feelings. Consequently, we don't punish very often and his behavior is getting worse. Should feelings come first or his responsibility to

That may not be entirely true but it is true that tomatoes, along with many other foods, have been proven to have cancer fighting properties.

In fact, studies have shown that just five servings of fruits and vegetables daily can prevent as much as 20 percent of all cancers. The cancer fighting benefits of proper nutrition apply to those who have been diagnosed and treated for cancer as well.

But keeping proper nutritional habits can be very complicated, especially when challenged with the rigors of traditional cancer treatment. If you add in complications from an unhealthy liver, renal system, or diabetes, the proper roadmap for nutrition gets even a little more gray.

That is why consulting a nutritionist can be just what the doctor ordered. Your one-hour consultation is a phone call away. Kim Dalzell, PhD, RD, LD, is an oncology nutritionist with over a decade of experience in the cancer treatment field. She is the program director for holistic nutrition services at Cancer Resource center in Gurnee.

A Service of Concer Treatment Centers of America®

AT MIDWESTERN REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER

Dear V.B.,

Feelings are important, and we do need to help our kids learn to express them in a healthy way. I'm not sure that misbehaving is one of those ways. I respect your concern for not wanting to squelch your child's expression, however, I think you are falling prey to one of the most insidious forms of future killers for kids. Your child should learn to express feelings, but appropriately. If a child learns to act out every time he feels frustrated or angry, he will continue to do that throughout life with everyone he meets. No one will put up with that for long.

Most likely, this is why you are seeing the bad behavior grow. He is not experiencing anything to stop the progression towards acting out. In other words, it is more profitable for him to act out than for him not

Additionally, do not confuse anger with frustration and intolerance. The way that you or I think of anger may not be the way your child feels it. Usually, the tantrums I have seen and have heard described are about the child not getting his way. They are basically a power play to get parents scared and to back down so ultimately the desired goal is reached by the child. This has absolutely nothing to do with the real emotion of anger. Unfortunately, most parents do get scared and back down very quickly and the child learns that this is the way to get what he wants*. From that point on, the tantrums grow bigger and bigger and bigger. When most parents think that anger is the issue for their child, most kids are really feeling frustration and intolerance. Imagine the message we give to them when we give in to their frustration and intolerance. We are telling them that it's o.k. to act that way. We are also giving them the clear message that everyone will be just as quick to back down as we were.

Let's talk about how to approach this thing from a logical and appropriate standpoint. My view and what I usually recommend to parents in my office is that behavior needs to be maintained 1st and then, after the child is calm, discussion can happen about feelings. That discussion should also help the child build skills for dealing with this type of thing the next time. So, 1st, whatever behavior program that uses appropriate consequences, needs to be put in place to be used to get the behavior under control, regardless of the reason for it. After the behavior is in control, and the behavior has cost something appropriate, a discussion should happen between parent and child. The parent should reinforce and help the child understand that the goal was not attained by the tantrum. The discussion should be mostly the parent asking the child questions to bring him around to the points the parent wants to make. There is far more learning that goes on when the child has to think to answer questions than when you lecture him. It may take several times for this chain of events to occur before the child automatically picks the right decision during a time when bad behavior could occur. The next time the same situation comes up and your child begins to react the right way, you will want to congratulate your child on a good decision. If the child is not sure of what to do, you might want to help him to think of the 2 choices available to him at the time (i.e.: staying calm, getting good recognition) and getting to go on with the rest of the day without a problem or the appropriate punishment for the wrong decision.) When he makes a good decision, let him know how proud you are. If he makes the bad decision, follow up consistently and appropriately.

By doing it this way, you are teaching him that he is allowed to feel any way he wants to about things, but he is not allowed to do anything he wants with those feelings. There is a big difference between squelching behavior and squelching feelings. This is called setting limits.

Those limits will help his success level now and in his future and make his transitions in life much smoother. So, don't feel guilty about using discipline first and talking later. As long as you get to the talking part, you are being a good, responsible parent who does not want to teach the wrong connections to your child.

Regarding counseling, it can be helpful in this situation. In a situation that involves a kid

Condell expands emergency department

As Condell Medical Center in Libertyville continues with its $88 million-plus expansion project, construction on the Emergency Department is underway and on schedule with a projected completion date of October 2002.

"We're really excited about the new construction and with the increasing numbers of patients we're seeing, it can't happen any too soon," said Condell Emergency Department Director Tammy Koslenko, RN.

During 2001, Condell's Emergency Department treated almost 44,000 patients — a 16 percent increase from the previous year. And that number is projected to increase steadily in the years ahead.

The completed unit will include 20 beds individually enclosed by glass walls, providing a quieter atmosphere for patients, yet still allowing nurses to monitor them visual-

"The glassed-in patient rooms will give patients and staff more privacy. Patients no longer will be disturbed by discussions among doctors and nurses, and we'll be able to provide a greater degrees of confidentiality because patients in adjacent beds won't be able to overhear conversations," said emergency physician Carol Carani, MD.

So far, steel framing is in place for a drive-thru garage area for ambulances. Located along Stewart Avenue, between the current Emergency Department entrance and the original hospital building, the structure will protect patients from inclement weather as paramedics bring them in and out of the hospital.

Subsequent phases of the project include connection of the Emergency Department to a new express elevator exclusively for Emergency Department use. The elevator will transport emergency patients to the Intensive and Critical Care Unit, surgery and other floors more quickly and conveniently. A new helicopter landing pad also will be constructed on the roof of the new elevator shaft for expeditious transport of critical patients.

Expansion and renovation of the ICCU

has begun as well, with a projected completion date of October 2002. The current ICCU will grow to 17,500 square feet — more than five times its current size.

Condell is growing for you. Serving Lake County residents, Condell Health Network includes Condell Medical Center, Condell Acute Care Centers, Centre Clubs, the innovative Condell Day Center for Intergenerational Care, Pediatric Alternatives in Creative Therapy (PACT), Condell Medical Guildings and Condell Home Health Systems.

Artists at Discovery Museum

Artist and teacher Catherine Ladner is displaying her works, and those of her students, in a new exhibit titled "Up and Coming Artists of Lake County." The exhibit opened Feb. 5, at the Lake County Discovery Museum near Wauconda.

The public is invited to join Ladner and her students for an artists reception to celebrate the exhibit opening, on Feb.10, from 1:30-4 p.m. The reception is free with paid Museum admission: $5.50 adult and $2.50 youth ages 4-17. Children 3 and under are free.

Ladner, a self-taught artist, specializes in floor cloths and furniture. Several of her three dimensional pieces will be on display. Ladner's students range in age from 7-15. Their work represents a variety of mediums including acrylic, folk art, color pencil and floor cloths. Many of her students have artistic career aspirations and with Ladner's encouragement, they have participated in exhibitions and entered numerous local art contests.

While at the Museum, visitors can also discover interactive exhibits including the Vortex Roller Coaster Theater, Lake County Mall of History and Bringing the World Home. Also on display through March 31, is the special exhibition "A Soldiers Experience: Photographs of the Vietnam War." Gallery Hours are 11 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and 1-4:30 p.m., on Sundays.

The Lake County Discovery Museum is located on Route 176 at Fairfield Road, east of Wauconda in the Lakewood Forest Preserve. For additional information, call 847-968-3400.

Stearns School Road lights up and running - finally

The Lake County Division of Transportation activated traffic signals on Feb. 5 on Stearns School Road at North Creek Drive, the north entrance to Gurnee Mills shopping mall.

The signals comprise part of the new Stearns School Road traffic signal system, which the county installed as part of the Stearns School Road rehabilitation project.

The traffic signal system extends from Hunt Club Road to Dilleys Road in Gurnee, with signals along the road connected by fiber optic cable.

The $2.1 million rehabilitation project of Stearns School Road began in April 2000 and culminates with the completion of the traffic interconnect system and this traffic signal activation.

Completion of the rehabilitation project concludes the transition of Stearns School Road from a village street and township road to a county arterial highway.

County Route A-16 begins at the intersection of Sand Lake Road and Illinois Route 132 in Lindenhurst and ends at the intersection of U.S. Route 41 and Stearns School Road in Gurnee.

According to Lake County Division of Transportation Director/County Engineer Marty Buehler, this is the last section of Stearns School Road to be brought up to county highway standards and ends a nine year project to make Stearns School Road a county highway.

For additional information, one can visit the Division of Transportation on the Lake County website, at www.co.lake.il.us.

Wysocki calls for end to Peotone project

Albert Wysocki, candidate for State Representative in the new 62nd District, is calling for a halt to land banking and other plans to build the proposed airport at Peotone.

Citing under capacity at area regional airports, budget constraints, and a reprioritization of spending, Wysocki pledges to work to end the Peotone project and refocus attention on the "needs of people of the 62nd district."

"The project at Peotone is another potential money pit for scarce, hard earned taxpayer dollars. There are immediate needs for transportation improvements in Lake County, such as the extension of Route 53," he said.

The local people in Peotone don't want it and neither do the most of the politicians in that area. We need Route 53 extended and most of our people want it, and yet the state never seems to have it at the top of the list. If I am elected state representative that will change," said Wysocki.

"Our region's transportation needs have been on the back burner far too long. The Round Lake area and the entire new 62nd District will benefit from the economic development that the long-debated Route 53 project will bring to Lake County. An infusion of economic development in our part of the county is an absolute necessity that will build the tax base necessary to support our schools and ensure that our children have access to the educational resources that they need to successfully compete in the job market," said Ila Bauer, mayor of Round Lake Park.

"The initial phase for land banking at Peotone is $75 million. The Federal Aviation Administration has yet to sign off on the project and the studies have not been completed. I agree with Senator Peter Fitzgerald that the state should at least wait until these issues are resolved," said Wysocki.

Albert Wysocki resides in Lake Villa with his wife Tina, family, and grandsons.

FEBRUARY IS DENTAL HEALTH MONTH

EXCERPTS FROM MY PRACTICE:

I have established a business whereby I provide a professional service, one that many people have their own reasons to avail themselves of, In which client/patient relationships are built on the quality of care I might perform. People have a choice and personal preference for whom they choose for these services and I hope to earn their respect and trust so they can feel confident in their dental care, not bothered by it.

In my business, as with many,
I provide for the average person's needs and desires;
because of this, I also compete for discretionary income-money they would rather spend somehow and somewhere else. I will try to make their choice of my dental care a value, so they will consider it an investment in themselves, in their health, and in their best interest.

e.g. I'd say that a lot of folks get cable TV, and that they're willing to pay upwards of $25-40 per month for that privilege. Then add cellular phone, and Internet access.

e.g. Anyone taken a cruise (or maybe their fifth)? Or had hearing aids made? Or gone out for dinner and not filnched at paying $19.95 for a steak that you could buy at the grocery store for $2.79 a pound? Have you bought a pair of glasses lately, and then changed them again in only a few short years? Would you do e.g. Have you used the services of an auto mechanic, plumber, accountant, or lawyer, or asked yourself what's your worth and how much education and experience did you have to endure to get to that level? Why does it cost so much to have your hair cut, or styled, or colored/permed? How much do you spend on lotto or blow at the casino?

A dental survey found that about 60% of the eligible people in Chicagoland have dental insurance. But only 40% of them use it. (That means only about 1/4 of the people who could have insurance use it). Now figure this: Only about 10% of those who have dental insurance use their maximum benefit in any year. IN OTHER WORDS, that is roughly 2 to 3% of the folks in this area who fully use their insurance.

Who's making a profit?
The average premium per month charge by dental HMOs was about $30 for a family, nonorthodontic plan; for a single adult it was about $12. Consider that even with dental insurance, the average patient pays approximately $250 per year out of pocket.
How long has it been since you or someone you know has been willing to invest that much in their dental health?

This month is designated Dental Health Month, and comes from the outgrowth of the American Dental Association Children's Dental Health Month that has been observed as a means of stressing the importance of providing dental care to our children in order to preserve their dental health and promote a lifetime of smiles.

The promotion of dental health through regular and conscientious habits is a homage to "prevention is worth a pound of cure". One of the most obvious results of the dental profession's efforts has been to save teeth. This has been recognized by people living longer with their natural teeth, and the fact that there are more of them. This leads to better health, and even the insurance companies have noticed that. Dental insurance has been a factor in promoting dental health and should be commended for helping lessen human suffering.

I have been a practicing dentist for 16 years and have seen the spectrum of people who have virtually no dental disease, to those who suffer through months of agonizing pain due to reluctance to seek dental care. While I was a dentist in the military, we were able to ensure that every soldier was given the opportunity to have care. It was FREE, but still there were people who did not take advantage of the care. I am now in private practice, and yet I still encounter people who have dental benefits and do not utilize them. Even when insurance encourages check-ups twice a year and pays up to 50% of major care, people often don't put a priority on the benefit of a healthy smile. Either they cite the fear of dentistry, the time constraints of work, or they can't afford their portion of the treatment, which ultimately results in a loss of benefits for which they (or their employer) paid and can never recover.

An observation of mine has been that over time, delay in treatment for most dental problems inevitably leads to more complex or extensive repairs that mean more expense and time, just as procrastinating on a leaking roof can have a negative effect on the value of a home. If you won't take care of it now, then what will it be in 6 months, or a year?

It humbles me to see people that I care for sometimes think more of that vacation or their hair and care less about what their teeth look or feel like.

This is where prevention and routine care becomes, in a sense, a regular part of your life and an expense that is well worth the value.

You can pay for insurance and not use it. You can use the same money that you would have paid for insurance and get your own dental care. Or you can live by those five deadly words -- "MAYBE IT WILL GO AWAY".

Just because of an inferior insurance plan or an unsuitable network provider, don't deny yourself the care. When you treat yourself to dinner, do you always pick the lowest priced? Or do you care about the quality? There are many reliable and dedicated dental offices in this area willing to help you achieve peace of mind in dental health.

I would like to thank all of those people who trust me or their dentist for their care and encourage folks to simplify their lives and seek the care that they deserve. In this age of health consciousness, February may be your chance to think about doing something for yourself or your loved ones that will show in every smile.

GET TO KNOW YOUR DENTAL INSURANCE

People frequently ask questions about their dental insurance, and whether I accept it. With so many changes occurring, let me say that I think insurance is good, because a lot of people, especially children, can get care when the family might better spend the money elsewhere. For those of you who have insurance, let me give you my opinion and help you maximize the benefits that you and your employer are paying for and entitled to by your plan.

There are myrlad plans offered today, and there are different levels of benefits you can choose from:

Traditional, or Indemnity Plans mean you go to whomever you want, submit the insurance and they pay according to the plan. This is the better value, but also often more expensive.
Many employers have opted for less expensive plans with fewer benefits. PPOs (Preferred Provider Plans) may encourage you to use a particular provider, usually a dentist who has agreed to a payment schedule (most often discounted). Due to the limitatlon and perceived lack of patient care quality, there are few dentists I know willing to accept these plans. Most of these plans will allow you to come to me for treatment, but you pay a small differential: see a lot of these. Insurance companies try to steer you to their dentists, but you may go to your choice.

DMOs (like HMOs, Dental

Management Plans)

are usually basic, discounted plans, and offer benefits only if you follow the stringent provisions and see their designated dentist only. Survey results say these often leave much to be desired.

If you know someone on these plans, have them bring me a written treatment plan with x-rays, and I will be happy to render a second opinion. I'll discount the consult fee if they are interested.

If you feel you are not receiving all the benefits you want, tell your employer you would like better coverage. Thank you for making a commitment to dental care. Consider that most people never use the benefits for which they've paid.

I believe you should be able to choose your dentist.

I am an independent practitioner and not in any network or discount plans because my fees and services are already competitive with most of their plans. I believe I offer a value for your dental care. Quality, not quantity, is what I offer. What I do is microsurgery on oral tissue, not just 'drill & fill'. I create unique, not just 'drill & fill'. I create unique, personalized dental restorations, and offer options to guide my patients to some of the best care available. NOW, DO YOU REALLY WANT THE CHEAPEST GUY?

I can process most any major dental insurance, and will review it with you if you have any questions. Just because I am not in the book does not mean I can't process it or help you.

I ask that you have your benefit advisor/representative review your dental insurance plan with you.

Know your plan's provisions. Nothing is free; insurance is intended to help pay for some or most of your care, but not all of it. You are responsible for payment for treatment. Insurance is not a contract to have them pay me.

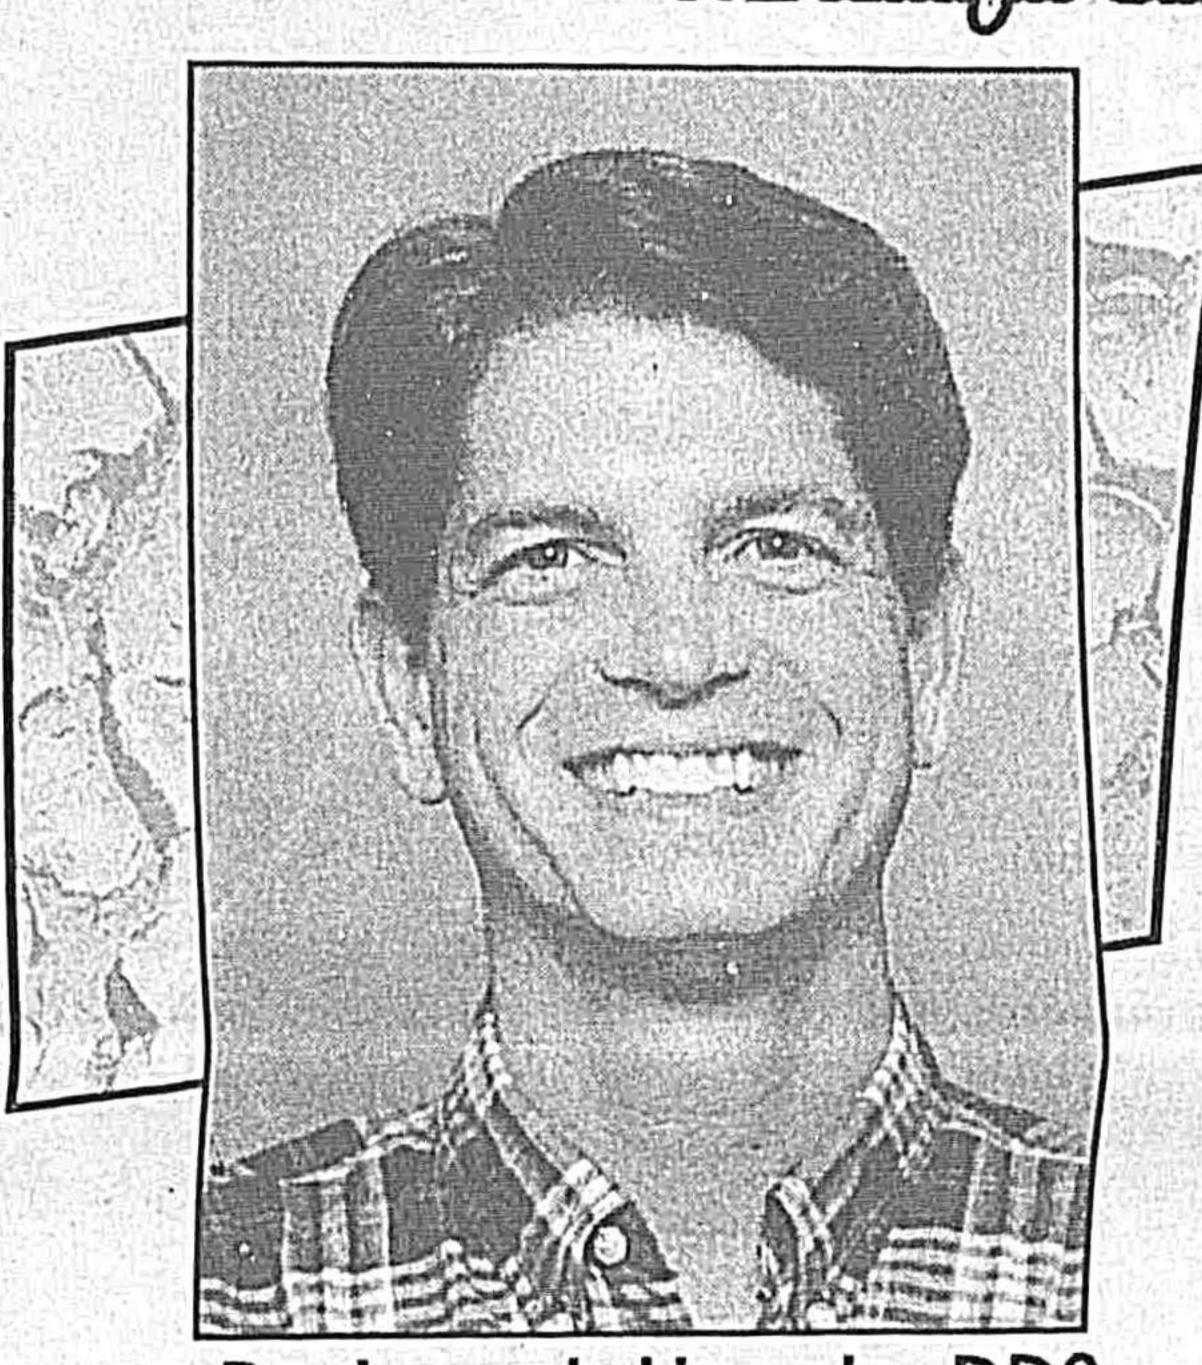

The average insurance benefit is approximately 46% of the Usual and Customary fee.

Usual and Customary Rate
(UCR) is the 'average' fee of an area reduced by perhaps 20 to 30%. As an example assume gasoline averages about $1 per gallon.

Insurance says the Usual and Customary price for gasoline is 80¢. Your insurance will pay benefits on the maximum fee equal to the UCR, (remember, It's the price of the average fee in this area DISCOUNTED by 20% or more). That makes your insurance benefit for our sample gasoline max out at 80¢. Depending on the benefit level of treatment, you may get even less.

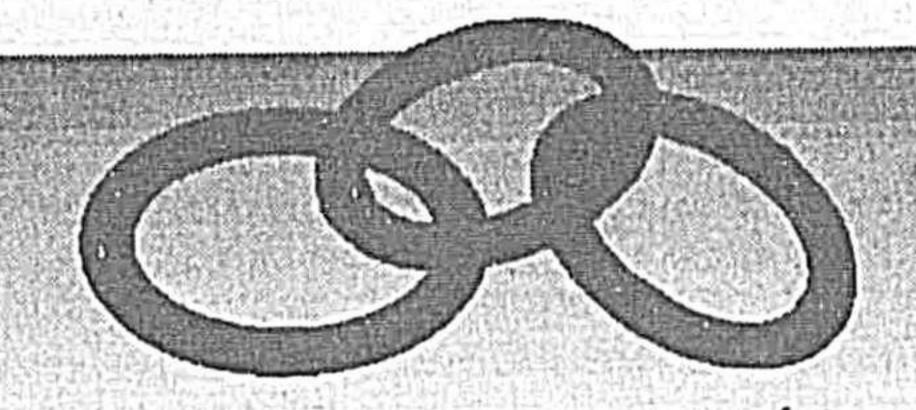

My fees have been approved about 90% of the time as withIn the UCR. That means they are equal to or less than the average in this area.

My goal is to keep it affordable and encourage you to invest in the best level of care needed, so you don't avoid treatment because of the high costs.

2001-02 LAKELAND BOYS BASKETBALL PROGRESS REPORT

A quick look at Lakeland-Area teams heading down the stretch

Carmel

Current record: 9-10 (5-4

Last year: 10-16 (5-8 ESCC) Head coach: Joe Molloy

Key players: F Sean Walker, 6-3, Jr; C John Poletto, 6-4, Sr; G Adam Bieschke, 5-10, Sr; F Jack Simmons, 6-4, So; G-F Tommy Morrow, 6-2, Sr; C-F Brian Schlemm, 6-7, Sr; G Dexter Reid, Jr., So.

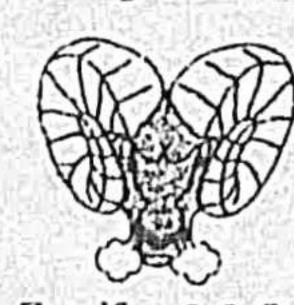

Quotable: "We've got some great size and the athleticism on this team is incredible. We'll try and make defenses collapse on us."—Head Coach Joe Molloy

Sectional seeding: 11

Down the stretch: Despite the record, this team can really surprise in regionals. That is, if the field-goal shooting improves and the defense play to its fullest. Grade: B-

FOX VALLEY

Grayslake

Current record: 8-11 (5-6

Last year: 1-26 (0-18 FVC) Head coach: Tim Bowen (2nd yr.)

Key players: F Adam Zwolfer, 6-6, Sr; G Josh Peregrin, 6-0, So; G Jay Bajgert, 5-11, So; G Andrew Forshee, 5-8, So; F Jason Brauer, 6-0, Sr.

Quotable: "We want to get better every game and be ready to give teams fits at regionals"—Head Coach Tim Bowen

Sectional seeding: 13 Down the stretch: The tale of two seasons, Grayslake found identity early on without Zwolfer, who was sidelined until after Christmas with a separated shoulder. The Rams are getting balanced scoring with him back, but need to get on the same page, rhythmically, anyway.

NORTH SUBURBAN LAKE DIVISION

Antioch

Grade: B-

Current record: 7-14 (2-6 NSC Lake) Last year: 13-15 (2-8 NSC

Head coach: Jeff Dresser (15th yr.)

Key players: C Josh Bonner, 6-6, Sr; G Brian Walsh, 6-0, Sr; G Allen Patin, 5-10, Sr; G Justin Mehaffey, 5-10, Sr; F Tom Woodruff, 6-7, Sr; G Ryan Bell, 6-1, Jr; G Nick Vultaggio, 6-1, Jr.

Quotable: "Defensively, the jury is still out. If we can use our size (at both ends of the floor), we'll be okay. If we don't, we're in trouble."-Head Coach Jeff Dresser

Sectional seeding: 12

Down the stretch: If the Sequoits can put four quarters together, they can hang with anybody. Keeping up the intensity and getting the ball inside to big men Bonner and Woodruff will get them to the line and perhaps help control the momentum a little more. Patin is the floor general and can light it up from the perimeter anytime. Grade: C-

Libertyville

Current record: 17-3 (7-1 NSC Lake) Last year: 13-13 (4-6 NSC

Head coach: Jim Goodwin

(3rd yr.) Key players: G Austin Yarc, 5-10, Jr; C Joel Castner, 6-8, Sr; C Pete Silvestri, 6-8, Sr; G Ben Engstrom, 6-1, Jr; G Mike Dugan, 6-0, Sr.

Quotable: "We had a successful summer, the system is in place and we want to compete for a conference title"—Head Coach Jim Goodwin

Sectional seeding: 1

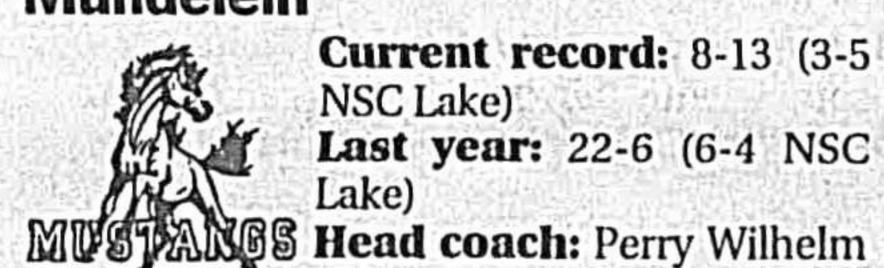

Down the stretch: Whether it's the inside game of Silvestri and Castner or the perimeter shooting of Engstrom and Yarc, the recentlycrowned NSC Lake champs have the weapons to go a long way in the state tourney. Libertyville can run or slow it down-doesn't matter. What matters is that they score close to 70 points per contest while the defense isn't too shabby either. Grade: A

Mundelein

Current record: 8-13 (3-5 NSC Lake) Last year: 22-6 (6-4 NSC Lake)

Key players: G Ryan Raymundo, 6-0, Jr; G Amon Ross, 5-8, Sr; G Scott Hill, 5-11, Sr; F/C Greg Mitchell, 6-5, Sr; F Matt Corning, 6-2, So; G Jamie Hawkins, 5-6, Jr.

Quotable: "We will go through growing pains early on but we don't have to settle for this being a rebuilding season"—Head Coach Perry Wilhelm

Sectional seeding: 10

Down the stretch: Several players have stood out at one time or another for the Stangs. Problem is getting them all on the same page. Ross, normally a flashy, good outside shooter, has been somewhat silenced lately. Mundelein lacks in height but can make up for it with its team speed and tenacity on 'D'. A sleeper in the playoffs. Grade: C-

Warren

NSC Lake) Last year: 22-6 (9-1, NSC) Head coach: Chuck Ramsey

Current record: 12-7 (5-3

Key players: G Ashton Hughes, 6-0, Sr; F Quentin Herring, 6-3, Sr; F John Shaw, 6-4, Sr; G Ryan Treiber, 5-11, Jr; G Chris Ihlenfeldt, 6-0, Sr; G Ashraf Saleh, 5-10, Jr. Quotable: "The defense isn't where it needs to be. We have a lot of work to do and are somewhat inexperienced. I'll be anxious to see how this team responds."—Head Coach Chuck Ramsey

Sectional seeding: 3

Down the stretch: The record might not show it, but the Devils, with the toughest schedule in the area, are always ready come playoff time. Herring (17 ppg, 8 rpg) is the main man on offense. He will need some help inside if Warren wants to make a run at another sectional crown. Grade: B

NORTH SUBURBAN PRAIRIE DIVISION

Wauconda

Current record: 3-16 (1-7 NSC Prairie) Last year: 13-12 (6-4 NSC Prairie) Head coach: Rich Wolf (2nd yr.)

Key players: F Duffy Middlesworth, 6-5, Sr; C Brad Breakfield, 6-6, Sr; G-F Joe Christians, 6-1, Sr; G-F Jim Hoeft, 6-0, Sr.; F Todd Schroeder, 6-0, Sr.

Quotable: "Our objective will be to pound the ball into Duffy and Brad. We were only 4-of-17 on three-pointers (at the Johnsburg tournament) so that did not help us. But we did not quit, and that will be a trait of this team."—Head Coach Rich Wolf

Sectional seeding: 17

Down the stretch: Wins might not be plentiful for the struggling Bulldogs but as they always say, whatever doesn't kill you leaves you stronger. Wauconda started strong against the sectional's top seed, Libertyville. But turnovers spelled doom as the game progressed. Breakfield's been solid in the post while Christians (7 ppg) was welcomed back recently after missing a couple of weeks with a bronchial infection. Good defense and erasing a dismal 52 percent from the foul-line are going to have to improve if the club wants to win the first-round playoff game against the up-tempo North Chicago in the 'pig-tale' game. Grade: D+

Grant

Current record: 14-5 (5-3 NSC Prairie)

Last year: 8-17 (1-9 NSC

Head coach: Phil Ralston (2nd yr.)

Key players: F Eric Lemcke, 6-3, Sr; F Andrew Wynne, 6-4, Jr; F C.J. Walleck, 6-6, Sr; G Brendan Lutz, 6-0, Sr; F Dave Behm, 6-3, Jr. Quotable: "We return all of our players from last year. That experience should be a plus in tough games and we had more than our share of those last year."—Head coach Phil Ralston. Sectional seeding: 4

Down the stretch: The Bulldogs have plenty of scoring firepower in Behm (11 ppg) and Wynne, who is among the top-10 in the area at 16 points per contest. Momentum, adrenaline and getting off to a fast start are keys for Grant, who earned their highest seed since the IHSA implemented the sectional complex format back in 1991. A big win over third-seeded Warren Blue Devils showed these guys are for real. Grade: A

Round Lake

Current record: 4-15 (2-6 NSC Prairie) Last year: 2-24 (1-9 NSC

Prairie) Head coach: Leroy Nordlund (4th yr.)

Key players: G Gerry Sepulveda, 5-10, Sr; Pt.-guard Kevin Parker, 5-9, Jr; G Jimbo Nicoline, 5-10, Jr; F-C Dre Gant, 6-4, Jr; C Tony Murdock, 6-5, So; G Derek Feltner, 6-1,

Quotable: "It might take some time for us to gel but I think we're going to surprise some people."—Head Coach Leroy Nordlund Sectional seeding: 14

Down the stretch: It's only a matter of time before this team jumps up and surprises some people. The Panthers are still young but gaining valuable playing experience with every game. Gant is one of the area's best in rebounding while Nicoline, Feltner, Parker and Murdock provide scoring punch. Keep playing hard guys—the wins will come! Grade: C-

Vernon Hills

Current record: 16-5, (6-2 NSC Prairie)

Last year: 11-16 (5-5 Prairie) Head coach: Michael Murphy (2nd yr.) Key players: C Steven

Melvin, 6-6, Sr; G Jason Newburger, 6-0, Sr; G-F Matt Glees, 6-2, Sr; G Ian Peckler, 6-3, Jr. Quotable: "We take a lot of pride in our defense. One of our goals is to lead the area in fewest points allowed."—Head coach Michael Murphy -

Sectional seeding: 7

Down the stretch: The Cougars are enjoying their most successful season in their short history. Glees is one of the area's perennial scoring threats at 19 ppg. Newburger and Melvin complement him well on offense. Defense, which it has all season long, will be the key heading into the post-season— Vernon allows only 45 points per game. Grade: B+

Quotable: "Height is not a strength for us. but our athleticism and quickness is."—Head Coach John Ryan

Sectional seeding: 3

Down the stretch: The Lady Corsairs started off the season on fire with a 14-0 record before hitting a wall once the conference schedule opened up. Carmel hung tough against Martan Catholic and Fenwick, two nationally ranked teams, but has struggled since. The team lacks height and will have to overcome that obstacle as well as getting Caitlin Krombach (14 ppg) going early if the team hopes to advance in the playoffs. Grade: B+

Current record: 21-6 (8-2 NSC Lake) Last year: 15-15 (9-3 NSC

Lake) Head coach: Stanczykiewicz (3rd yr.)

Key players: F Amy Peters, 6-1, Jr; G Leah Foster, 5-7, Sr; G Beth Wessel, 5-6, Jr; C Melanie Foreman, 6-2, Sr; F Tori Bloom, 5-9, Sr; G Amy Wessel, 5-6, Jr; F Amber Dolence, 5-9, Sr.

Quotable: "We play well in spurts defensively, but we need to do it consistently"—Head Coach John Stanczykiewicz.

Sectional seeding: 3

Down the stretch: Amy Peters is one of the best post players in the county. But Foreman has been a nice complement in the paint when teams double and triple-team Peters. When the inside game isn't clicking, the Wessel sisters, Dolence, Bloom and Foster are there to provide some scoring punch from the outside. The key for Warren is to minimize any potential run by the opposition which it has done a stellar job of thus far. Also, don't get too overconfident, Devils, and you'll go a long way. Grade: A

Grant

Current record: 16-10 (6-4 NSC Prairie)

Last year: 10-16 (5-5 NSC Head coach: Tom Oeffling

Key players: F Shannon Gustafson, 5-7, So; G Ann Marie Lehecka, 5-4, Sr; G Rosa Csultis, 5-7, Jr; F Jenni Wick, 5-7, Jr; C Beth Palmer, 5-10, Sr. Quotable: "This is not totally unexpected. But the season is long and there is a lot of work to be done."—Head Coach Tom Oeffling on his team's early success.

Sectional seeding: 11

Down the stretch: The Bulldogs are enjoying one of their best season's in history, having won 16 games for the first time in history. Csultis has proven to be a weapon on offense, scoring 24 against North Chicago last week. The leadership of Ayers-Bersch, LeHecka and Turley will be invaluable come regionals. Grant plays Mundelein this week, a team they have handled before this season. Guess whom the Bulldogs open first-round regional action with? You guessed it! Grade: A-

Wauconda

Current record: 3-17 (1-7 NSC Prairie)

Last year: 10-15 (6-4 NSC

Head coach: Tim Bartusch (3rd yr.)

Key players: G-F Susie Bitters, 5-11, Jr; F Stephanie Gertz, 5-8, Sr; G-F Sara Billings, 5-6, Sr; G Jenny Kordas, 5-3, Jr.

Quotable: "Because of the junior-dominated team, we will have to stress that this is a learning process this year."—Head Coach Tim Bartusch

Sectional seeding: 17 Down the stretch: The record is misleading. This team can surprise if it denies the passing lanes on defense while driving to the bucket and converting free throws on the offensive end. Bitters and Billings provide scoring punch for a team that started the year 5-4 but has slipped since. Grade: C

Round Lake

Current record: 4-20 (1-8 NSC Prairie) Last year: 16-13 (8-2 NSC

Key players: G/F Jenny Daily, 5-7, Sr; G Jessica Jadrich, 5-4, Sr; G Amber Hussain, 5-6, Quotable: "If we can rebound and play good Head Coach Gary Edge defense, we'll make some teams nervous."— Sectional seeding: 16

Down the stretch: Different players have stepped up at times in this, a season of growth and learning. The team definitely misses that big scoring threat. Instead, it will have to rely on Jadrich and Daily for offense and leadership. Hussain is a spark plug at both ends of the floor. All will have to step their game up a notch if Round Lake wants to advance in the regionals. Grade: C-

Vernon Hills

Current record: 9-17 (7-2 NSC Prairie) Last year: 10-20 (7-3 NSC

Prairie) Head coach: Paul Brettner

Key players: G Kim Rymer, 5-8, Jr; G Beth

Plucinski, 5-5, Jr; F Natalie Neer, 5-11, Sr; F Jenny Kosatka, 5-9, Sr; G Lauren Horan, 5-8, So. Quotable: "We want to compete for and win the Prairie, win a crossover game or two and maybe shock a few ranked teams"—Head Coach Paul Brettner

Sectional seeding: 14

Down the stretch: The Cougars have been very competitive, considering its strength of schedule. But collapses during any given time in a game have haunted them. Vernon hung with Oak Park last week, drawing to within four points (37-33) in the fourth quarter. But just as they start coming back, time runs out. Rymer, Neer and Horan have been solid on offense. Rymer is a defensive wizard and can also score. She's averaging close to 15 points per contest over the last nine games. Put all of these factors together, for 32 minutes, and the Cougars could advance. Grade: C-

OBITUARIES

Margaret 'Marge' Elizabeth Mauck (nee Mowat)

Age 88, she died Thursday, Jan. 31, 2002 at her home in Round Lake Beach, after a lengthy illness. Many people loved and cared for Margaret during her illness. Especially worthy of mention are her daughter-in-law, Diane Mauck for her kind and loving care, and the kind and able people of the Palliative Care Center Home Care Hospice.

Marge was born Nov. 22, 1913 in Chicago. She graduated from high school, a point she was very proud of because she had to convince her mother that she would make much more money. Margaret married Frank E. Mauck in Chicago on Sept. 2, 1933. They had three sons, Richard, William, and Roy. In 1948, the family moved from Chicago to Round Lake Beach, where Margaret has resided ever since. She was a member of the Round Lake Community Church since 1948.

Marge loved all animals, especially dogs. She was active in the Chain of Lakes Kennel Club and served as treasurer for many years during the 1970s. For the last 10 years, her dog, Candy and her cat, Missy, were her constant companions.

When her husband died, she went to work for the Great Lakes Navel Training Center and worked as an accounting technician. She retired Oct. 1, 1986 after 20 years of service at the age of 72. She was one of the first students to enroll at the College of Lake County in 1969. She continued as a student, finally pursuing Creative Writing and specializing in writing her memoirs. Two chapters of her memoirs were published in the CLC literary magazine and her stories of her young life were also published in a book.

Survivors include two sons, Richard (Patricia) of Clermont, Fla., and Roy (Diane) of Grayslake, and her grandchildren: Patrick (Susan), Cynthia (Kip), Debra (Paul) Murphy, James (Michelle), Kevin, Terry, Sandy, Kelly (Scott) Whittingham, and Ryan (Lisa). She has nine great-grandchildren.

Preceding her in death are her beloved husband, Frank, 1965; a son, William, 1990; his wife, Kay, 1976; and her sister, Alice Curry.

A Memorial Service will be held, Saturday, Feb. 9, 2002, 11 a.m., at the Round Lake Community Church, corner of Goodnow Boulevard and Avilon Road, Round Lake. Family and friends may call at that time. Interment will be private.

Myra Reimers (nee Fisher)

Age 89, died in Ormond-by-the-Sea, Fla., where she was living in an assisted living facility. Myra lived in Grayslake until 1996.

She is survived by a daughter, Judy Merritt of Milwaukee, Wis.; a son, Michael (Shirl) of DeLeon Springs, Fla.; a brother, Charles (Neda) of Spokane, Wash; six grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held Feb. 9 at 1 p.m. at St. Andrews Episcopal Church, 31 Park St., Grayslake. Private interment will be held at Avon Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, the family requests contributions to the Alzheimers Research.

Thomas Richard Strauser

Age 69 of Palm Desert, Calif., and formerly of Wooster Lake, died Jan. 29, 2002 at home in Palm Desert, Calif. He was born on Sept. 4, 1932 to Homer and Marge Strauser of Chicago. He was the very loved grandson of Margaret DeSilva Curran of Chicago. He was an owner and secretary/treasurer of Chicagoland Quad Cities Express, Inc. of Bridgeview. Mr. Strauser and James Vavrik started this company in 1969 as the owners and sole employees of the company. Chicagoland Quad Cities Express is now a major distribution firm in the Chicagoland area employing nearly 100 people.

Tom enjoyed golfing with his many golfing "buds" in Illinois and California. He was a Past Governor of the Fox Lake Moose Lodge. His loving personality and always positive outlook will be missed by many. Tom had experienced heart problems most of h is adult life. At the age of 57, he underwent valve replacement surgery in Elgin. Then at the age of 67, he had a heart transplant at UCLA Hospital in Los Angeles, Calif. He always fought the "good fight," but eventually complications from the heart transplant took his life.

Tom is survived by his wife, Carol Strauser of Palm Desert, Calif.; his children from Illinois include, Terri Ann (Philip) Wintermute of Bolingbrook, Shari Ann (James) Koleff of Downers Grove and Thomas Robert Strauser, now of Clearwater, Fla. Children residing in California include, Debbie (Greg) Martin of Clovis, Dan (Linda) Kratovil of Van Nuys, , Dawn (Kratovil) (Gary) Holm of Roseville, Janie (James) Carduff of Santa Rosa, and Ryan Millay of Phoenix, Ariz.; Tom and Carol are the proud grandparents of 15 grandchildren including: Angela, P.J. and Todd Wintermute; James Koleff, Marissa and Alexa Strauser, Michael, Melissa and Kevin Martin; Jack Kratovil, Bryan, Mandy and Nicki Holm: Megan and Collin Carduff. They lovingly referred to him as grandpa, pa and grandpa Tom. Tom was the elder brother to Larry (Linda) Strauser of St. Petersburg, Fla. And sister, Peggy Leah Strauser (Larry) Oram of Oldsmar, Fla. He was uncle to seven fun-loving nieces and nephews.

Services were held Jan. 31, in California at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Palm Desert, Calif, In lieu of flowers the family has requested that expressions of love be given to five of your friends or family members and monetary donations can be made to the Sami Disharron Brain Tumor Research Foundation at 109 Flamingo Rd., Cotati, Calif., 94931-4362. This is the organization that has provided moral support to Megan Carduff and her successful battle with pediatric brain cancer.

Frank Pochie

Age 91, a Fox Lake resident for the past 15 years, formerly of Round Lake and Addison Park, died suddenly in his home on Monday, Feb. 4, 2002. He was born on July 16, 1910 in Pocahonas, Va., to John and Julia "Judy" (nee Franko) Pochie, and had served his country in the U.S. Army between 1928-32. On Aug. 11, 1934, he was united in marriage to Anne R. (nee Retzer) and had been a tool and die maker by trade. Mr. Pochie had attended the Calvary Presbyterian Church in Round Lake and had enjoyed golf and reading. He was a longtime member of the Rising Sun Masonic Lodge 115 in Grayslake.

Survivors include: his wife, Anne R. (Retzer) Pochie of Fox Lake; nephew, Steven (Connie) Pochie of Hurst; and his dear friends, Harry and Pat Schippers Jr. of Fox Lake.

Memorial services will be conducted on Saturday, Feb. 16 at 11 a.m. at the Calvary Presbyterian Church, 510 Cedar Lake Rd., Round Lake, with Rev. Lisle Kauffman officiating. Memorials for the church will be appreciated. Arrangements were completed with the K. K. Hamsher Funeral Home, Fox Lake (The Chapel on the Lake).

Leo H. Potoczek

Age 54 of Spring Grove and Johnson, State of Medical died suddenly Saturday, Feb. 2, 2002 at Lakeland Medical Center in Elkhorn, Wis. He was born Dec. 31, 1947 in Chicago (Mikes) Potoczek, On Jan. 24, 1976, Age 54 of Spring Grove and formerly of Round Lake Beach, to Walter J. and Mary Ann (Mikos) Potoczek. On Jan. 24, 1976, he married Carolyn Sue Phillips in Des Plaines. A resident of Spring Grove since June of 2001, Mr. Potoczek was formerly a resident of Round Lake Beach since March, 1979. He resided in Schaumburg prior to moving to Round Lake Beach. He was a 1966 graduate of Lane Tech High School, and also attended the Illinois Institute of Technology. In 1967, he enlisted in the U.S. Air Force and spent the majority of his time serving in Italy. He attained the rank of sergeant, and was discharged from active duty in 1971. He served as a reservist until 1973.

For the majority of his career, he was employed by the Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America. He retired in April, 1998, after 32 years of service. He enjoyed playing golf the summer following retirement, before returning to employment at the Grieve Corporation in Round Lake. He later joined his current employer, the Central Lake County Joint Action Water Agency of Lake Bluff as an engineering technician. A member of the Professional Ski Instructors of America, Mr. Potoczek was an instructor at Grand Geneva from 1994-99. In 1999, he joined Alpine Valley Ski and Snowboard School, and served as instructor as recently as Saturday, Feb. 2, when he took ill following his day instructing students. The Toughest Interview Question May Be Easy To Answer By Scott T. Fleischmann

As an interviewer I have thousands of interviews under my belt (which may be the reason that my belt size keeps increasing.) An issue that continues to surprise me is that ( my first question to a candidate is usually the toughest for them. After introducing myself and doing everything possible to make the candidate feel comfortable, I ask what seems to me to be a simple open ended question like "So \ tell me about yourself." At that point I often see the candidates eyes widen in terror. Then, in most cases I noticed a significant quiver of the upper lip. At first I was confused, but after several of these experiences I realized that the question caused that fear. To me that should have been the easiest question of the interview. However, to most candidates, it seemed to be the most difficult.

After several of these experiences I asked friends and family for input about why that question was so terrifying. They gave me two answers. Firstly, they pointed out that they did not know specifically what the interviewer expected in the answer. Secondly, most of them wanted to make a good impression so that they would get the job, yet they did not want to appear boastful. They didn't know how to achieve the right balance.

That second consideration is a healthy concern that is caused by the boastful, self-centered society in which we live. Unfortunately, we see athletes, actors, politicians and others who take credit for every accomplishment that has occurred since the great flood 5000 years ago. Although that may impress the general public, I don't know of any interviewers who are favorably inclined to boastful candidates. In fact, arrogance rates high on the list of reasons that candidates are not hired. Candidates are expected to have a healthy understanding of how their contributions fit into the more global company goals. They are also expected to understand how others have contributed and the teamwork that was required for the accomplishment of that goal. Most interviewers respect humility not arrogance.

In response to the other concern, the interviewer is looking for a place to start. You can assume that he or she has read your resume or application and is interested enough to talk to you. You can also assume that they have a list of specific questions that they will want to ask. But first they are giving you an opportunity to share your values, motives, and experiences. They want to start with those issues in your life that have had an effect on you. Although they will be most interested in work experiences, any experience that helps them to understand your goals, motives and values is appreciated.

Next week we will learn how to plan for this question and we will look at the best format for answering this and all other questions.

Test boots could change footwear of the fleet

Several divisions of recruits at Great Lakes are wearing what could become the future of Navy footwear.

In an effort to reduce the number of Sailors suffering from stress fractures and lower extremity injuries, the Navy is conducting tests using a new safety shoe at Recruit Training Command (RTC).

"The past two to three years the Navy has modified aspects of (recruit) training to reduce musculoskeletal injuries," said Navy Physical Training Consultant Cmdr. Kerry Thompson. "Naturally, we began looking at footwear."

Safety shoes are one of three pairs of shoes recruits are issued at the start of basic training. Tennis shoes and dress shoes are the others. Of all three pairs, safety shoes are the primary footwear used aboard ship.

"The current shoe has a hard rigid sole," Thompson said. "The legs and bones are absorbing a lot of the shock."

Designed with a softer sole, the Navy purchased 2,000 pairs of the test shoe and began distributing them to the first divisions of recruits in December last year. Each recruit who receives a pair of the test shoes will keep them for their entire time at basic training and return them before departing RTC.

Basic training was ideal for testing the new shoes because of the amount of time recruits spend on their feet. According to Thompson, Navy recruits march an average of 25 miles per week, more than any other branch of basic training.

"It's mostly due to the logistics of the base and the physical training six days a week."

With a higher incidence of stress fractures in women, most of the test shoes will be given to female recruits. The results will help testers determine if the shoe makes a difference.

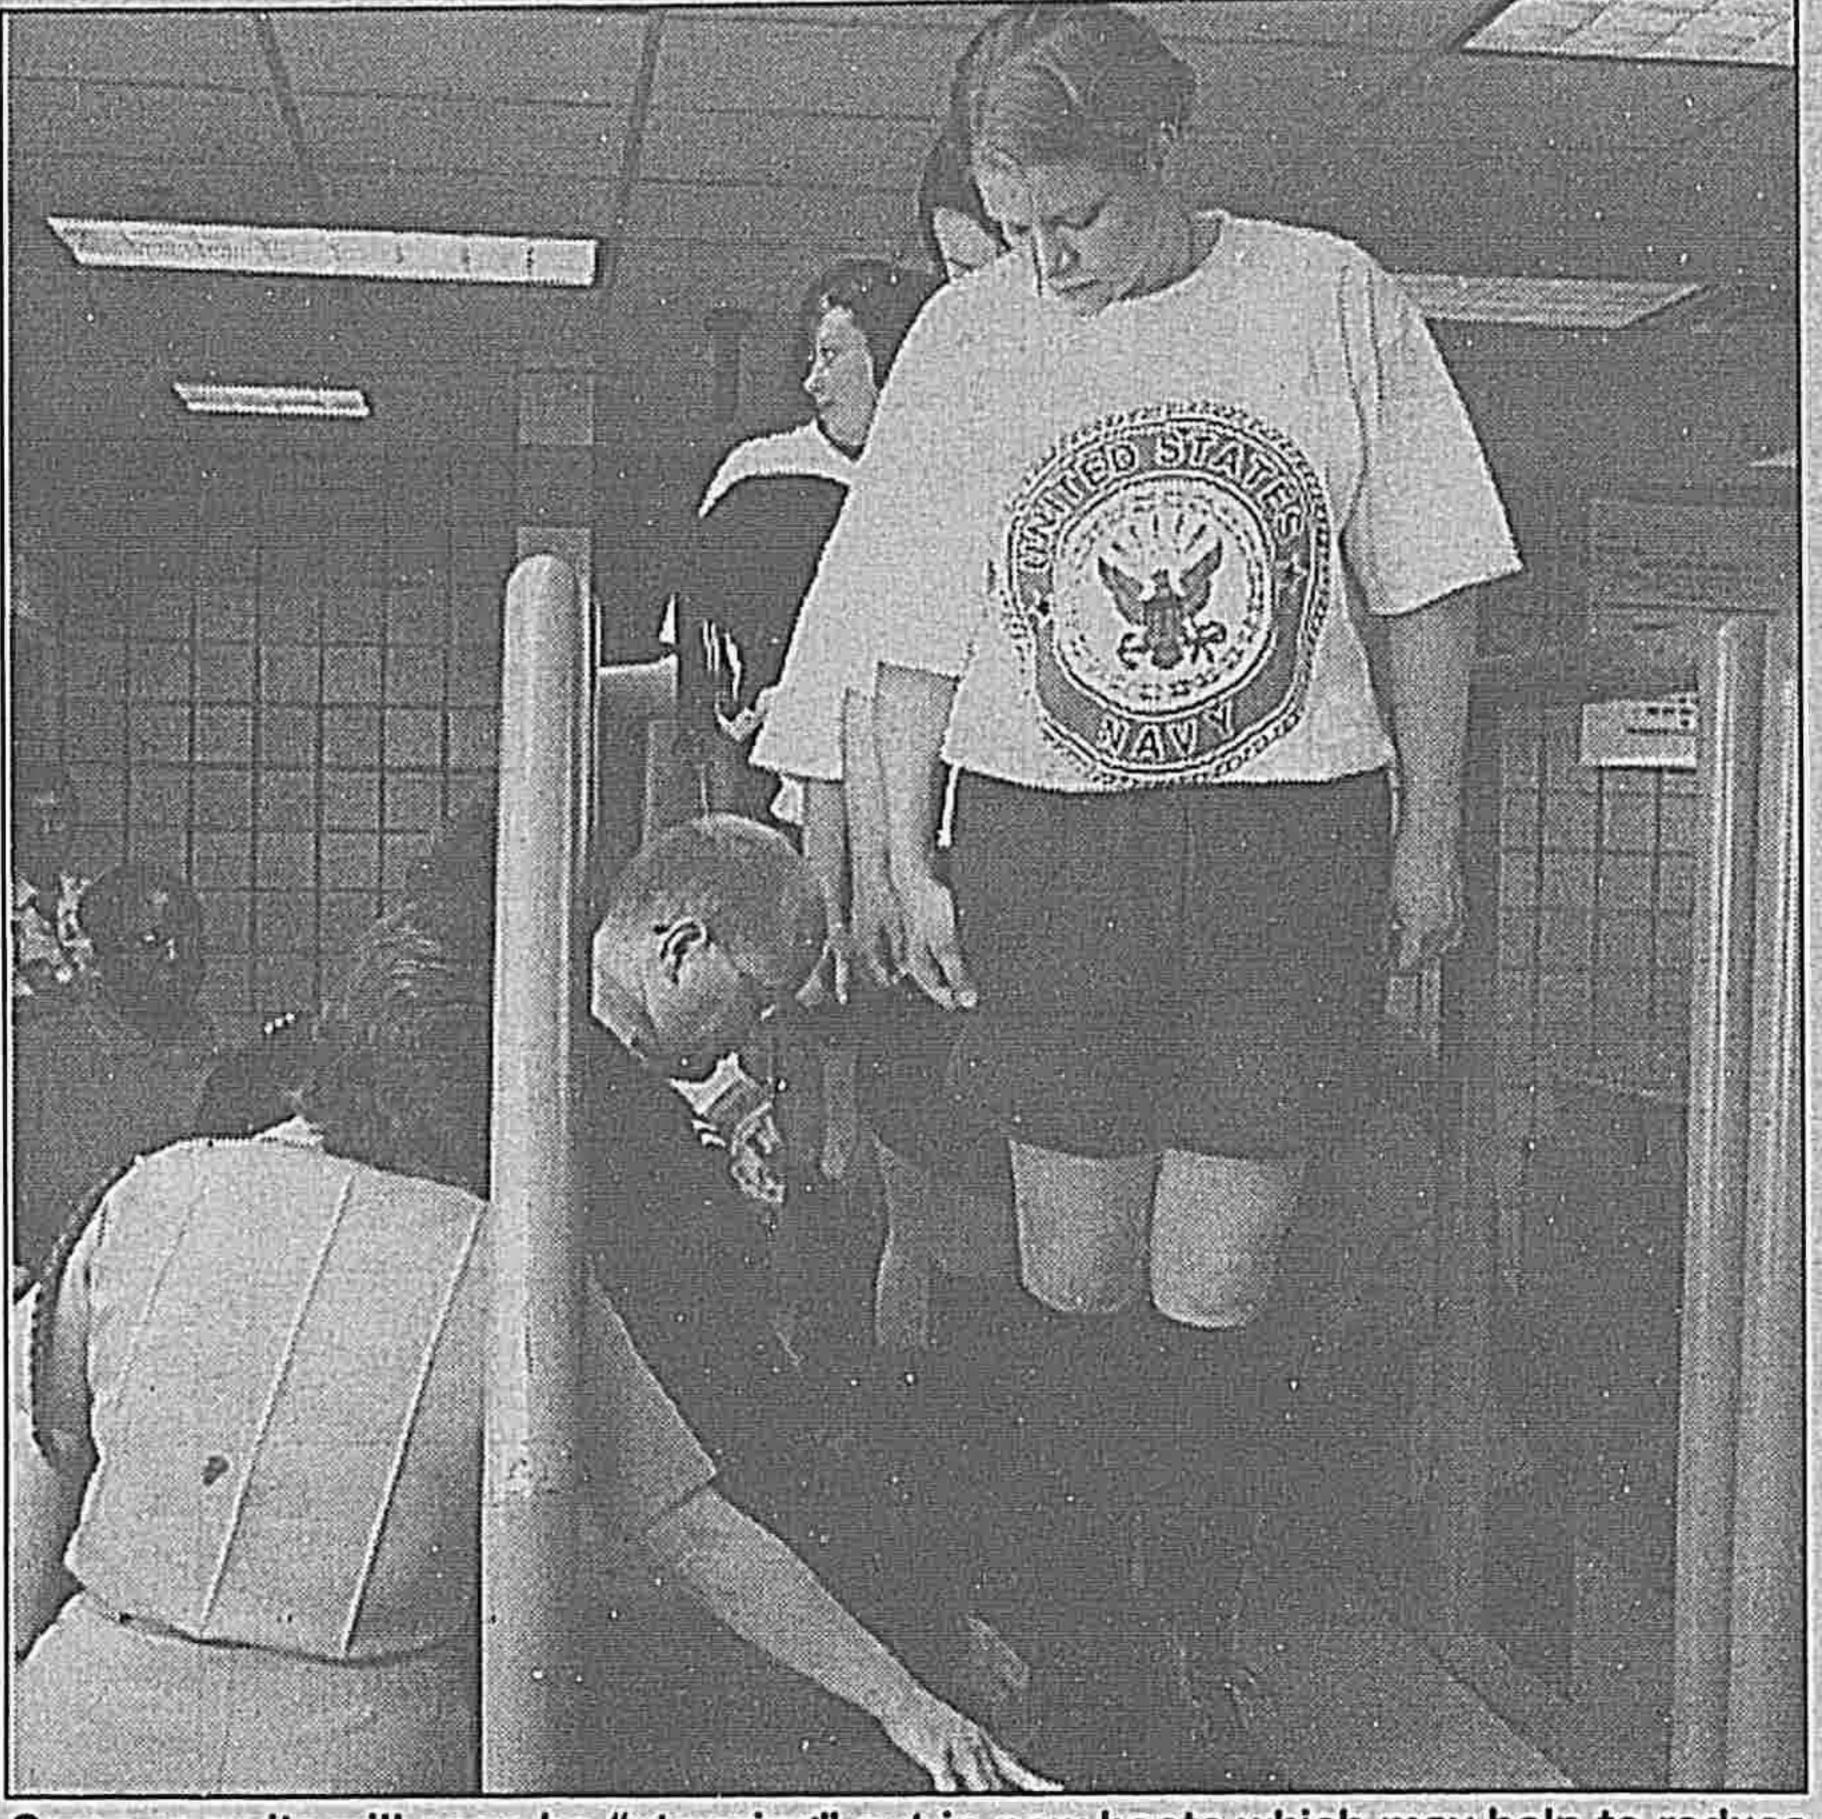

In addition to the female recruits, one division of male recruits (70 to 80 men) will receive the shoes.

One hurdle that testers are already anticipating is the test shoes come without a steel toe, a necessity for them to be considered authorized safety footwear.

"Having a steel toe won't change the (test) results," Thompson said. "It was just a matter of cost. We would put the steel toe in before it becomes shipboard acceptable."

It will be at least another six months before all 2,000 shoes are worn and the final results of the test are in.

"If the boots work then we have to ask if it's worth the money it will cost each year for all recruits to get them," Thompson said. "We'll give CNET (Chief of Naval Education and Training) the answer then we'll have to get together with NEXCOM (Navy Exchange Service Command) and clothing issue to make a decision."

Pollwatcher Credentials for qualified political organizations for the March 19, 2002 General Primary Election are now available at the Lake County Clerk's office. All pollwatchers are required to have credentials issued by the Lake County Clerk in order to observe a polling place.

Pollwatchers may represent established political parties, candidates, qualified civic organizations, or organized proponents or opponents of ballot propositions. Requests for credentials must be submitted in writing and include the name and address of the organization or committee, as well as the name and address of the chairman. The statutory deadline for requesting credentials for the General Primary Election is Feb. 7.

The Lake County Clerk's office will offer a Pollwatcher Training Class at 10 a.m. on March 8, County Board Assembly Room, 10th Floor, the County Administration Building at 18 N. County St., Waukegan. For further information or to confirm attendance at the training class, call Lanita Hall at 847-377-2314 or via e-mail at lhall@co.lake.il.us.

Pollwatcher credentials now available | Absentee voting begins at clerk's office

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander announced Feb. 7 is the start of in-person absentee voting for the March 19. General Primary Election, in the County Clerk's office, 18 N. County St., Waukegan.

Voting will be offered during regular office hours between 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday-Thursday, and 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Fridays (except on Fridays before a holiday weekend). In-person absentee voting will also be offered on Saturday, March 16 from 9 a.m.noon. The last day to vote in-person absentee is Monday, March 18.

A registered voter may also vote an absentee ballot by mail. A voter can request an application for absentee ballot on the Clerk's County web www.co.lake.il.us/cntyclk, or by calling the clerk's office at 377-2406.

Once the signed application for a ballot is returned, the Clerk's office will mail a ballot within 48 hours. For more information, contact the County Clerk's Absentee Department at 377-2406.
